EXCITEMENT ON A STEAMER FROM RUMOR OF SMALLPOX

PASSENGERS GIVEN A SCARE

CAPTAIN DENIES THE STORY

But Passengers Say a Sick Negro Was Put Off Below—The Steamboat Officers Defied the Authorities at Wellsville And Landed There.

When the steamer Greenwood, plying between Charleston and Pittsburg, arrived here last evening bound for the latter city on her regular trip, it was met at the wharfbank by Health Officers Ogden and Burgess, together with Chief Thompson and Policemen Davidson and Aufderheide. The officers' purpose was to prevent the steamer from discharging any of its passengers or cargo at this point, and they did so.

Word was received by the health authorities late in the afternoon from Wheeling that a smallpox patient was on board the Greenwood, and the officials were warned to take proper precautions on the arrival of the boat. Messrs. Ogden and Burgess made their way to the city hall early in the evening and made arrangements with the officers to accompany them to the wharfbank in case trouble should result. It was suspected by the health officials that an attempt would be made to defy their authority, but in this they were mistaken.

It was about 8:30 o'clock when the Greenwood's whistle was heard signaling for a landing. The officers were on hand to meet the steamer, and when it pulled in alongside of the wharfbank, the officials, who had taken position on the roof, signaled to Captain Green, who was standing on the upper deck, to hold his passengers back and notify the mate to refrain from unloading freight.

Captain Green obeyed the orders without the least protest. He then came down to the lower deck, where he was met by the officers, and an explanation of the situation followed. Dr. Ogden apprised the captain of the instructions he had received from Wheeling and explained that he was compelled to use every precaution against exposing the city to an epidemic. Captain Green strenuously denied all knowledge of there being a sick person on his boat since leaving Charleston, and to further convince the health officer of the mistake, the clerk was sent for. He corroborated the captain's statement and insisted on being allowed to unload the passengers and cargo for this point.

While Dr. Ogden was conversing with the Greenwood's officers, Mr. Burgess again went to the roof of the wharfbank, where he held a conference with a number of the passengers on the upper deck. From one of them he learned that a negro roustabout had taken ill on the boat soon after leaving Charleston, and that he had been put off at St. Mary's. When asked by the health officer whether or not the negro had smallpox the passenger refused to say positively, but incidentally intimated that the patient had something worse than measles. Other passengers informed the officers of the negro's sickness and reiterated the statement that he had been put off at St. Mary's.

Mr. Burgess reported his discovery to Dr. Ogden and a consultation was held, in which Wharfmaster Pilgrim took part. It was decided to take no risks and Captain Green was instructed to proceed up the river. He asked to be allowed to put off a horse and buggy, which had been shipped to a party in this city, and also desired permission to put off 25 barrels of salt consigned to a local merchant. This was refused, the captain being told in a courteous way that his requests could not be complied with. Then he asked Dr. Ogden if he could land his above the state line. The doctor told him he could, but added that if the parties who were put off the boat attempted to come into the city they would be arrested and placed under quarantine.

Finally the captain concluded that expatriation was useless. Then he took occasion to compliment personally the health authorities, the marshal and policemen on their gentlemanly conduct. He stated that at Steubenville his boat had been met at the landing by the police force and a crowd of citizens with drawn revolvers who acted like a horde of savages. The passengers were given a great scare and he was forced to pull out into the river and proceed upward.

At Wellsville, according to the captain's story, the steamer's reception was the same as at Steubenville. He stated that policemen and citizens met the boat and that pistols were flourished on all sides. When the deckhands attempted to unload a quantity of lumber on the shore they were frightened back onto the boat. The captain was not so easily baffled, however. He unbuttoned his coat, and holding it open boldly walked down the plank and defied the crowd to shoot. He began to unload the lumber, but as soon as he would throw a board to the shore it was thrown back by the indignant citizens. A policeman went in search of Health Officer Warren and on arrival at the wharf he gave the captain permission to unload the lumber.

There were no demonstrations in East Liverpool. The city authorities went about their work in a quiet and courteous way and not only the officers of the steamer, but the passengers as well-evidenced their appreciation of the treatment they received in the warmest of praise. Captain Green expressed the belief that the story concerning the alleged case of smallpox on his boat had been started by jealous rivals for the purpose of injuring him. Just before leaving he was informed that before he would be allowed to land on his downward trip he would have to produce a clean bill of health from the Pittsburg authorities. The captain agreed to have his boat thoroughly fumigated.

A great crowd gathered along the river bank when the Greenwood arrived and hundreds gathered around the wharfbank. The doors of the wharfbank were kept closed, however, and the crowds were not allowed to come in contact with the passengers on the steamer.

The health officials are deserving of the greatest credit in so successfully accomplishing their purpose. It was noised about the city early in the evening that the Greenwood would not be allowed to land and it was generally predicted that trouble, and perhaps bloodshed would result. The policemen who accompanied the health officers had no occasion to assert their authority and at no time was there the last indication of strife.

WHEELING DETECTIVE

LOOKING FOR A COUPLE HE CLAIMED HAD ESCAPED.

Officer Davidson Found the Man Who Tried to Locate the Detective And Whip Him.

A Wheeling detective called at the city hall last evening and asked the co-operation of the officers in locating a traveling man who, he claimed, was in this city. The detective said the drummer had eloped from Wheeling with a young lady of that city.

Officer Davidson located the man at the C. & P. depot just before the arrival of the 8 o'clock train. The drummer became incensed when the policeman told him of the charges made by the detective. He said he was married to the Wheeling woman and went in search of the "spotter," vowing he would thrash him. The detective made himself scarce.

The bridegroom's brother acted as best man. It was a grand ceremony. The newly married couple left immediately after the wedding for a trip west.

METZGER'S TRIAL BEFORE A JURY

The Evidence Submitted a Repetition of That Given at First Hearing.

AMBLER LONG ON THE STAND

Questioned for Three Hours And Cross-Questioned for Two More—The Defendant Tried Upon Four of the Original Charges Against Him.

Lisbon, May 24.—(Special.)—When a jury had finally been obtained yesterday for the trial of the case of the city of Salem vs. City Solicitor L. P. Metzger, it stood as follows: L. D. Endley, Bert B. Burns, Laurin Cope, J. P. Frew, John C. Baxter, A. W. H. Martin, E. E. Hess, Lisbon; Frank Greenheisen, North Georgetown; D. G. Thompson, St. Clair township; John Conlin, Washington township; Hugh McCready, East Palestine, and John Bock, East Liverpool.

A motion was argued, asking that the defendant be tried simply on the one charge of which he was recently convicted, dropping the remaining six charges of which Judge Boone declared him not guilty. Judge Boone ruled upon the motion before any evidence was offered, overruling the motion and holding that in granting a new trial, every charge made against the defendant should be investigated. By consent of all parties interested, however, Mr. Metzger will be tried simply on the first, second, fifth and sixth charges.

The first charge includes the payment by the city of $45 for the first trip to New York; the second charge, the $51 claimed for the second New York trip; the fifth, charging him with having connived and colluded with certain parties in endeavoring to dispose of the Salem railroad against the interests of the city of Salem, and the sixth, charging him with having sought to dispose of the Salem railroad at judicial sale while assuming to act in his official capacity of city solicitor. This is the clause charging him with arranging with parties whose interests were adverse to the city and who agreed to pay him $1,000 out of the proceeds of the sale.

The evidence of James M. Sears, James L. McNeelan, C. E. Cavanaugh, C. E. Sweney and B. S. Ambler was taken during the afternoon and differed in no particular from that given by them at the former hearing.

Ambler was not cross-examined last evening. Court adjourned until morning.

At 8:30 this morning the cross-examination of Ambler was proceeded with, conducted by Hon. R. W. Taylor, who subjected the witness to a most searching questioning. Nothing new was brought out. Ambler was on the stand over two hours this morning and almost three hours yesterday.

William Dunn was next called to testify concerning conversations between Ambler and Metzger in Ambler's office February 28.

The evidence for the prosecution closed just before noon. Metzger then took the stand to testify in his own behalf. He told the same story as at the former trial.

One point scored by the defense was the introduction as evidence of the letter written to Metzger by Ambler, while the former was acting as solicitor of the city of Salem in the absence of A. W. Taylor, then solicitor. Mr. Taylor was then in the south for his health. Ambler, recognizing Metzger's performance of additional services in the interests of the city, wrote to him, enclosing a check for $50, in appreciation thereof, which, as the evidence showed, was promptly returned, with the statement that he could not conscientiously accept.

All of the evidence of the defense will be in by 4 o'clock and arguments will begin.

the afternoon he will conduct a mass meeting, the various churches uniting, at the Second M. E. church in the East End. In the evening of the same day he will preach at the First M. E. church. On Monday evening, June 3, Dr. Thompson will preach in the First U. P. church in this city and on Tuesday evening he will speak in Chester, the two churches there uniting. On Wednesday evening prayer meetings will be held in the various churches of East Liverpool at 7:30 o'clock, and at 8:30 a mass meeting of all the churches will be held at the First M. P. church. From here Dr. Thompson will go to Wellsville, continuing his labors up to and including Sunday evening, June 9.

Dr. Thompson comes here as the representative of the American Sunday league and has the endorsement of prominent religious workers throughout the country. A Fort Worth, Texas, paper says of his discourse in that city:

"He contended that man to reach his best condition in body, mind, social and spiritual life, needed the Sabbath. That under a Sabbath well kept, men live longer, are more effective in labor, more intelligent, more inventive, more commercial, more moral, and more generally successful. In his illustrations he contrasted London with Paris, England with Spain and argued that our country, to be truly and permanently strong, allow on Sunday only work of real necessity and the most quiet recreations and the day should be one of rest, thought worship and song.

"At night he spoke in the First Presbyterian. His subject was 'The Sunday of Our Fathers.' He contended that the men who made this country intended to establish Christianity and intended that the worshipful type of Sunday should be a permanent institution of the land.

"All who heard the distinguished speaker seem to agree with the Nashville American that 'he is one of the most finished orators in the south.'"

RUNAWAY GIRL CAUGHT

VIRGIL HALSTEAD PLEADED GUILTY TO PETIT LARCENY.

She Was Arrested at Wellsville By Constable Powell And Is Now in the Lisbon Jail.

One week ago Virgil Halstead, a 14-year-old girl, whose parents live in the West End, left her home. She was arrested last evening in the lower end of Wellsville by Constable Powell. It was thought the girl had left the city with Robinson's circus, as she had made known her intention to do so, and was in company with several of the showmen here.

She was located at Wellsville by G. W. Allison, an uncle of the girl, who claimed she had stolen a watch and other jewelry, and the constable, who already held a warrant for her, was apprised of her whereabouts. The officer found the girl hidden in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Daniels, in company with Jennie Hughes, another girl whose home is in this city. Mrs. Daniels is a sister of the Hughes girl.

The constable was told by the Halstead girl she would go with him without trouble, and asked permission to change her clothes. With the Hughes girl she went to an upstairs room and locked herself in. The officer was about to force the door when it was opened. She pleaded guilty to petit larceny before Justice McLane this morning and was taken to Lisbon by the constable.

Her father is at present helplessly ill in the last stage of consumption. On different occasions his daughter has run away, and as a result the parents agreed to have her sent to the reform school.

The girl was arraigned at Lisbon this afternoon and application will be made to send her to the girls' school at Delaware as an incorrigible.

A GREAT SUCCESS

Was the Dance Given by the Belmont Club at Rock Springs Park.

The Belmont club held its first dance of the season at Rock Springs park last night. The decorations at the pavilion were superb, the colors of the club being much in evidence and floral decorations abundant. A large and select gathering was in attendance.

Some members of the club are complaining of the early quitting of the orchestra. The invitations stated that there would be dancing from 8 to 12, but at 11:20 the home waltz was played and by 11:30 the floor was cleared and the orchestra departed for home. Yet the evening passed delightfully for the club members and their numerous guests.

Finance Committee Made the Rating at a Meeting Last Night.

INCOME WILL BE $46,000

Which Is About $5,000 in Excess of That of Last Year From All Sources.

NOTE FROM AUDITOR ADAMS

The Committee Are Not Pleased With the Manner in Which the Water Works Department Make Improvements, And Will Meet With Them.

Finance committee of council met at city hall last evening and fixed the tax levy under the new appraisalment.

President Nice and Members Cripps, Horwell, Bullock and Thomas were present, together with Clerk Hanley.

It required a great deal of figuring to arrive at a definite conclusion, but after going over the ground in a careful and business-like manner, the members concluded the city could not do business upon an amount less than a levy of 8½ mills would bring.

The most reasonable and by far the fairest made of figuring, and the plan which had been discussed by several members of the committee was not followed out. It had been suggested that the committee should take the old valuation of $3,000,000 as a basis and then decrease the levy in proportion to the increase in the value of the property in the city. For instance, if a piece of real estate was valued at $2,000 under the old appraisalment and the new fixed it at $3,000, the levy should be lowered one-third.

It is not known whether the question was presented in that light—evidently not, as the levy was fixed at a much higher figure than this would bring.

The information is given out that the committee deemed it wise to keep the levy down to 8½ mills on account of the dissatisfaction throughout the city and county. It was thought that by another year things would have adjusted themselves so that the levy can be increased to a point that will fully cover the running expenses of the municipality. The councilmen say the levy as fixed, although about $5,000 in excess of the income of last year, will be inadequate to cover the legitimate expenses. Last year the fund of every department was overdrawn, and this fact is the reason assigned for desiring to increase the income.

The council, it is claimed, will now be compelled to use every precaution in keeping down the expenses of the city, and consequently very little work in the way of improvements will be done.

A communication was received from County Auditor Adams, cautioning the committee against fixing a levy which would produce an income greater than that provided by the statutes. He had received notice from property-holders in all parts of the county informing him that restraining orders would be issued in cases where the law was violated in this regard.

Another matter touched upon at the meeting was the manner in which the water works department were conducting their affairs. The committee had agreed to pay the interest upon the indebtedness already contracted by them in order that they be enabled to devote their entire income to the work of building the new reservoir. They still propose to do this, but are not pleased at the manner in which the work is being done. The law requires that all contracts involving an expenditure of $500 or more shall be let by bids. It seems the department has been conducting the improvements on their own hook by day's work. The finance committee do not approve of this and will meet with the board in order to lay their objections before it.

Chased Out of Michael Ryan's House Before He Could Begin Operations.

When the steamer Greenwood, plying between Charleston and Pittsburg, arrived here last evening bound for the latter city on the her regular trip, it was met at the wharfbank by Health Officers Ogden and Burgess, together with Chief Thompson and Policemen Davidson and Aufderheide. The officers' purpose was to prevent the steamer from discharging any of its passengers or cargo at this point, and they did so.

Word was received by the health authorities late in the afternoon from Wheeling that a smallpox patient was on board the Greenwood, and the officials were warned to take proper precautions on the arrival of the boat. Messrs. Ogden and Burgess made their way to the city hall early in the evening and made arrangements with the officers to accompany them to the wharfbank in case trouble should result. It was suspected by the health officials that an attempt would be made to defy their authority, but in this they were mistaken.

It was about 8:30 o'clock when the Greenwood's whistle was heard signaling for a landing. The officers were on hand to meet the steamer, and when it pulled in alongside of the wharfbank, the officials, who had taken position on the roof, signaled to Captain Green, who was standing on the upper deck, to hold his passengers back and notify the mate to refrain from unloading freight.

Captain Green obeyed the orders without the least protest. He then came down to the lower deck, where he was met by the officers, and an explanation of the situation followed. Dr. Ogden apprised the captain of the instructions he had received from Wheeling and explained that he was compelled to use every precaution against exposing the city to an epidemic. Captain Green strenuously denied all knowledge of there being a sick person on his boat since leaving Charleston, and he further convinced the health officer of the mistake, the clerk was sent for. He corroborated the captain's statement and insisted on being allowed to unload the passengers and cargo for this point.

While Dr. Ogden was conversing with the Greenwood's officers, Mr. Burgess again went to the roof of the wharfbank, where he held a conference with a number of the passengers on the upper deck. From one of them he learned that a negro roustabout had taken ill on the boat soon after leaving Charleston, and that he had been put off at St. Mary's. When asked by the health officer whether or not the negro had smallpox the passenger refused to say positively, but incidentally intimated that the patient had something worse than measles. Other passengers informed the officers of the negro's sickness and reiterated the statement that he had been put off at St. Mary's.

Mr. Burgess reported his discovery to Dr. Ogden and a consultation was held, in which Wharfmaster Pilgrim took part. It was decided to take no risks and Captain Green was instructed to proceed up the river. He asked to be allowed to put off a horse and buggy, which had been shipped to a party in this city, and also desired permission to put off 25 barrels of salt consigned to a local merchant. This was refused, the captain being told in a courteous way that his requests could not be complied with. Then he asked Dr. Ogden if he could land his above the state line. The doctor told him he could, but added that if the parties who were put off the boat attempted to come into the city they would be arrested and placed under quarantine.

Finally the captain concluded that exportation was useless. Then he

He stated that at Steubenville his boat had been met at the landing by the police force and a crowd of citizens with drawn revolvers who acted like a horde of savages. The passengers were given a great scare and he was forced to pull out into the river and proceed upward.

At Wellsville, according to the captain's story, the steamer's reception was the same as at Steubenville. He stated that policemen and citizens met the boat and that pistols were flourished on all sides. When the deckhands attempted to unload a quantity of lumber on the shore they were frightened back onto the boat. The captain was not so easily baffled, however. He unbuttoned his coat, and holding it open boldly walked down the plank and defied the crowd to shoot. He began to unload the lumber, but as soon as he would throw a board to the shore it was thrown back by the indignant citizens. A policeman went in search of Health Officer Warren and on arrival at the wharf he gave the captain permission to unload the lumber.

There were no demonstrations in East Liverpool. The city authorities went about their work in a quiet and courteous way and not only the officers of the steamer, but the passengers as well evidenced their appreciation of the treatment they received in the warmest of praise. Captain Green expressed the belief that the story concerning the alleged case of smallpox on his boat had been started by jealous rivals for the purpose of injuring him. WHEELING DETECTIVE

LOOKING FOR A COUPLE HE CLAIMED HAD ESCAPED.

Officer Davidson Found the Man Who Tried to Locate the Detective And Whip Him.

A Wheeling detective called at the city hall last evening and asked the co-operation of the officers in locating a traveling man who, he claimed, was in this city. The detective said the drummer had eloped from Wheeling with a young lady of that city.

Officer Davidson located the man at the C. & P. depot just before the arrival of the 8 o'clock train. The drummer became incensed when the policeman told him of the charges made by the detective. He said he was married to the Wheeling woman and went in search of the "spotter," vowing he would thrash him. The detective made himself scarce.

The Evidence Submitted a Repetition of That Given at First Hearing.

AMBLER LONG ON THE STAND

Questioned for Three Hours And Cross-Questioned for Two More—The Defendant Tried Upon Four of the Original Charges Against Him.

Lisbon, May 24.—(Special.)—When a jury had finally been obtained yesterday for the trial of the case of the city of Salem vs. City Solicitor L. P. Metzger, it stood as follows: L. D. Endley, Bert B. Burns, Laurin Cope, J. P. Frew, John C. Baxter, A. W. H. Martin, E. E. Hess, Lisbon; Frank Greenheisen, North Georgetown; D. G. Thompson, St. Clair township; John Conlin, Washington township; Hugh McCready, East Palestine, and John Bock, East Liverpool.

A motion was argued, asking that the defendant be tried simply on the one charge of which he was recently convicted, dropping the remaining six charges of which Judge Boone declared him not guilty. Judge Boone ruled upon the motion before any evidence was offered, overruling the motion and holding that in granting a new trial, every charge made against the defendant should be investigated. By consent of all parties interested, however, Mr. Metzger will be tried simply on the first, second, fifth and sixth charges.

The first charge includes the payment by the city of $45 for the first trip to New York; the second charge, the $51 claimed for the second New York trip; the fifth, charging him with having connived and colluded with certain parties in endeavoring to dispose of the Salem railroad against the interests of the city of Salem, and the sixth, charging him with having sought to dispose of the Salem railroad at judicial sale while assuming to act in his official capacity of city solicitor. This is the clause charging him with arranging with parties whose interests were adverse to the city and who agreed to pay him $1,000 out of the proceeds of the sale.

The evidence of James M. Sears, James L. McNeelan, C. E. Cavanaugh, C. E. Sweney and B. S. Ambler was taken during the afternoon and differed in no particular from that given by them at the former hearing.

Ambler was not cross-examined last evening. Court adjourned until morning.

At 8:30 this morning the cross-examination of Ambler was proceeded with, conducted by Hon. R. W. Taylor, who subjected the witness to a most searching questioning. Nothing new was brought out. Ambler was on the stand over two hours this morning and almost three hours yesterday.

William Dunn was next called to testify concerning conversations between Ambler and Metzger in Ambler's office February 28.

The evidence for the prosecution closed just before noon. Metzger then took the stand to testify in his own behalf. He told the same story as at the former trial.

One point scored by the defense was the introduction as evidence of the letter written to Metzger by Ambler, while the former was acting as solicitor of the city of Salem in the absence of A. W. Taylor, then solicitor. Mr. Taylor was then in the south for his health. Ambler, recognizing Metzger's performance of additional services in the interests of the city, wrote to him, enclosing a check for $50, in appreciation thereof, which, as the evidence showed, was promptly returned, with the statement that he could not conscientiously accept.

All of the evidence of the defense will be in by 4 o'clock and arguments will begin.

That under a Sabbath well kept, men live longer, are more effective in labor, more intelligent, more inventive, more commercial, more moral, and more generally successful. In his illustrations he contrasted London with Paris, England with Spain and argued that our country, to be truly and permanently strong, allow on Sunday only work of real necessity and the most quiet recreations and the day should be one of rest, thought and worship and song.

"At night he spoke in the First Presbyterian. His subject was 'The Sunday of Our Fathers.' He contended that the men who made this country intended to establish Christianity and intended that the worshipful type of Sunday should be a permanent institution of the land.

S. M. Garlack was today appointed guardian of Mabel Thompson, of Salem township. She is the daughter of Robert and Eliza Thompson. The guardian filed $100 bond.

Charles W. Russell was appointed administrator of the estate of the late Nancy Reed, of Lisbon, to take the place of Hannah Reed, deceased. Bond for $5,000 was filed.

RUNAWAY GIRL CAUGHT

VIRGIL HALSTEAD PLEADED GUILTY TO PETIT LARCENY.

One week ago Virgil Halstead, a 14-year-old girl, whose parents live in the West End, left her home. She was arrested last evening in the lower end of Wellsville by Constable Powell. It was thought the girl had left the city with Robinson's circus, as she had made known her intention to do so, and was in company with several of the showmen here.

She was located at Wellsville by G. W. Allison, an uncle of the girl, who claimed she had stolen a watch and other jewelry, and the constable, who already held a warrant for her, was apprised of her whereabouts. The officer found the girl hidden in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Daniels, in company with Jennie Hughes, another girl whose home is in this city. Mrs. Daniels is a sister of the Hughes girl.

The constable was told by the Halstead girl she would go with him without trouble, and asked permission to change her clothes. With the Hughes girl she went to an upstairs room and locked herself in. The officer was about to force the door when it was opened. She pleaded guilty to petit larceny before Justice McLane this morning and was taken to Lisbon by the constable.

Her father is at present helplessly ill in the last stage of consumption. On different occasions his daughter has run away, and as a result the parents agreed to have her sent to the reform school.

The girl was arraigned at Lisbon this afternoon and application will be made to send her to the girls' school at Delaware as an incorrigible.

EX-SUPERINTENDENT

OF THE COLUMBIANA COUNTY SCHOOLS THE DEFENDANT.

Sensational Suit for $20,000 Against Judge T. C. Roche, of Coshocton.

Probate Judge Thomas C. Roche, of Coshocton, who has been sued for $20,000 damages for alienating the affections of the wife of George W. Helter, formerly a buggy agent of Coshocton, now of Chicago, was formerly superintendent of schools in Columbiana county. Helter married Miss Laura M. Stocker, of Port Washington, in 1894. She is now at the home of her mother.

Judge Roche is a prominent lawyer and Democratic politician. He claims he is the victim of a conspiracy and that the plaintiff and his wife offered to settle for $500. Helter's attorneys say they have Helter's wife's confession.

Was the Dance Given By the Belmont Club at Rock Springs Park.

The Belmont club held its first dance of the season at Rock Springs park last night. The decorations at the pavilion were superb, the colors of the club being much in evidence and floral decorations abundant. A large and select gathering was in attendance.

Some members of the club are complaining of the early quitting of the orchestra. The invitations stated that there would be dancing from 8 to 12, but at 11:20 the home waltz was played and by 11:30 the floor was cleared and the orchestra departed for home. Yet the evening passed delightfully for the club members and their numerous guests.

Finance Committee Made the Rating at a Meeting Last Night.

INCOME WILL BE $46,000

NOTE FROM AUDITOR ADAMS

The Committee Are Not Pleased With the Manner in Which the Water Works Department Make Improvements, And Will Meet With Them.

Finance committee of council met at city hall last evening and fixed the tax levy under the new appraisalment.

President Nice and Members Cripps, Horwell, Bullock and Thomas were present, together with Clerk Hanley. It required a great deal of figuring to arrive at a definite conclusion, but after going over the ground in a careful and business-like manner, the members concluded the city could not do business upon an amount less than a levy of 8½ mills would bring.

The most reasonable and by far the fairest made of figuring, and the plan which had been discussed by several members of the committee was not followed out. It had been suggested that the committee should take the old valuation of $3,000,000 as a basis and then decrease the levy in proportion to the increase in the value of the property in the city. For instance, if a piece of real estate was valued at $2,000 under the old appraisalment and the new fixed it at $3,000, the levy should be lowered one-third.

It is not known whether the question was presented in that light—evidently not, as the levy was fixed at a much higher figure than this would bring.

The information is given out that the committee deemed it wise to keep the levy down to 8½ mills on account of the dissatisfaction throughout the city and county. It was thought that by another year things would have adjusted themselves so that the levy can be increased to a point that will fully cover the running expenses of the municipality. The councilmen say the levy as fixed, although about $5,000 in excess of the income of last year, will be inadequate to cover the legitimate expenses. Last year the fund of every department was overdrawn, and this fact is the reason assigned for desiring to increase the income.

The council, it is claimed, will now be compelled to use every precaution in keeping down the expenses of the city, and consequently very little work in the way of improvements will be done.

A communication was received from County Auditor Adams, cautioning the committee against fixing a levy which would produce an income greater than that provided by the statutes. He had received notice from property holders in all parts of the county informing him that restraining orders would be issued in cases where the law was violated in this regard.

Another matter touched upon at the meeting was the manner in which the water works department were conducting their affairs. The committee had agreed to pay the interest upon the indebtedness already contracted by them in order that they be enabled to devote their entire income to the work of building the new reservoir. They still propose to do this, but are not pleased at the manner in which the work is being done. The law requires that all contracts involving an expenditure of $500 or more shall be let by bids. It seems the department has been conducting the improvements on their own hook by day's work. The finance committee do not approve of this and will meet with the board in order to lay their objections before it.

THE LOCAL POTTERIES

The following communication speaks for itself. Others on the same or similar topics will be gladly published, if unobjectionable. The pottery workers of East Liverpool are invited to make the News Review the medium through which they may discuss topics of interest to the craft:

"Editor News Review—I have noticed with pleasure that the editorial management have added a pottery department to your already valuable paper, and I think this is one of the best moves you could make, as it will serve to keep the craft posted on all matters connected with the various organizations, as well as any shop talk which the tradesmen see fit to discuss.

"I am a packer, and for this reason seldom have an opportunity to hear much respecting the workings of the locals. I think the packers should be organized by themselves, and have taken the liberty of writing this note in order to mention a few reasons why it was not a good move to affiliate with the warehousemen.

"Local union No. 48 is in a flourishing condition—amply able to conduct her own affairs and stand on her own bottom—without any assistance from the packers. I have been trying to figure out since learning of this move what excuse or reason the officials have for suggesting that the packers go in with the warehousemen any more than with any other trade. There is no more similarity in the trades or the duties performed by those engaged therein than between the kilnmen and the saggermakers.

"The great trouble has always been that the members of my trade are dependent upon the contractors and are unable to have a voice in the fixing of their wages. This state of affairs is our own fault to a great extent, and is the main reason why we should be organized separately. The same conditions prevail with the mold-makers, and the size of their local is evidence of the effect it has upon that craft. They are plucky enough, however, to stay with their organization, and their faithfulness will be rewarded some day by doing away with the contracting system.

"Now, my plan is to form an organization of our own, and go to work on the revolution of the systems now in vogue. True, we have been organized before, and have been compelled to surrender our charter owing to lack of interest on the part of the members, but this cannot be taken as an evidence that another effort would be unsuccessful. Moody's Vote of Thanks.

Possibly the most novel response ever made to a request to return a vote of thanks to a chairman was that made by Mr. Moody during his first visit to England.

"Our American cousin, the Rev. Mr. Moody of Chicago, will now move a vote of thanks to the noble earl who has presided on this occasion."

The whole thing was quite out of Mr. Moody's line. English formalities might or might not have come gracefully from his lips had he attempted them, but he did not. With an utter disregard of conventionality he burst upon the audience with the bold announcement:

"The speaker has made two mistakes. To begin with, I'm not the Rev. Mr. Moody at all. I'm plain Dwight L. Moody, a Sunday school worker. And then I'm not your American cousin. By the grace of God I'm your brother, interested with you in our Father's work for his children.

"And now about this vote of thanks to the 'noble earl for being our chairman this evening.' I don't see why we should thank him any more than he should thank us. When at one time they offered to thank our Mr. Lincoln for presiding over a meeting in Illinois, he stopped it. He said he'd tried to do his duty, and they'd tried to do theirs. He thought it was about an even thing all round."

That opening fairly took the breath away from Mr. Moody's hearers. Such a talk could not be gauged by any known standard. Mr. Moody carried his English audiences with him from that beginning to his latest labors.—Youth's Companion.

When at one time they offered to thank Mr. Lincoln for presiding over a meeting in Illinois, he stopped it. He said he'd tried to do his duty, and they'd tried to do theirs. He thought it was about an even thing all round."

That opening fairly took the breath away from Mr. Moody's hearers. Such a talk could not be gauged by any known standard. Mr. Moody carried his English audiences with him from that beginning to his latest labors.—Youth's Companion.

Dowie and Others Held for a Woman's Death.

LEADER COULD NOT BE FOUND

Babe of Pierson Died Near New York. He a Dowie Follower—Serving Term Owing to Neglect of Another Child, Who Died.

Chicago, May 24.—The coroner's jury, which for about two days had listened to the evidence in the case of Mrs. Emma Lucy Judd, wife of one of the officials of John Alexander Dowie's Zion, last night returned a verdict holding Dowie, H. W. Judd, husband of the woman; Mrs. Judd, and Mrs. Bratsch to await the action of the grand jury. Two of the accused were arrested, but the rest were not found, Dowie being one of the missing.

New York, May 24.—Earl Gladstone Pierson, the 2-months old son of J. Pierson, of Mount Vernon, died at the Pierson home, Kinsico, a daughter of Pierson's died recently of pneumonia and the father is now in White Plains jail serving out a fine of $500 imposed for his neglect to employ a physician in the case. For about 10 days the second child had been without medical attendance, it is said.

HAS LIPTON A CHANCE?

Yachtsman Thought Not, Before Accident—Sir Thomas Wants Races In October.

London, May 24.—An editorial in The Yachtsman, written before the accidents to the Shamrocks, said:

"The trials of the two Shamrocks have shattered our faith in the new boat. We cannot see what prospect of success Lipton has."

Southampton, May 24.—At a conference of his constructors and advisers, held last evening on board the Erie, Sir Thomas Lipton told the gentlemen that he was determined to go ahead with the Shamrock II, and left it to them to decide how this could best be done.

He had a long discussion with Mr. Watson, the designer of the Shamrock II; Mr. Ratsey, the sail maker; Mr. Wand, manager of the Denny's, the builders of the yacht; Captain Sycamore, her skipper, and Messrs. Hillyard and Ure, amateur yachtsmen, who have been sailing on board the Shamrock II, and it was agreed to cable the New York Yacht club asking that the date of the contest be postponed until the first week in October, in order to allow time for necessary repairs. This extension will give the Denny's and Mr. Ratsey time to do their parts of the work.

JOHNSON TOOK ACTION.

Again Had Injunction Issued Against Tax Assessment Board.

Cleveland, May 24.—Mayor Johnson again invoked the power of the court to compel the 19 county auditors sitting as a railway tax assessment board to call in railway officials to testify as to the value of their lines. The board met to appraise the property of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road. Before it could take action, however, the sheriff appeared with a writ of mandamus issued by Judge Strimple. Thereupon the auditors took a recess and it is understood the officers of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road will be asked to appear before that board.

A NEW ROAD REFORMER.

For years the bicyclists have been earnest advocates of road reform and have done a good deal to promote it. From present indications they will soon have a powerful ally in the increasing army of automobilists. A man and his wife have succeeded in making an automobile trip from New York to Chicago in 10 days' time, in spite of the hindrances of bad roads and unfavorable weather conditions. It would not be surprising if long-distance summer tours by the owners of horseless carriages should become popular in the future, as these vehicles are gradually perfected and their management is better understood. Automobiles are useless on any but good roads. At present they are too costly for common use as pleasure vehicles. But, unless history fails to repeat itself, they will be improved, cheapened in price and their use rapidly extended wherever conditions are favorable.

With increased numbers of automobiles there will naturally be a demand for roads on which to run them. In many cities they are now fast displacing vehicles drawn by horses. Horseless cabs, express wagons, delivery wagons and even horseless drays are growing in favor, and factories report the demand for them growing at an astonishing rate. Good streets and good roads must follow their general introduction. The automobile isn't pretty and it doesn't always smell well, but these faults will be overlooked by the public if it proves a genuine advance agent of road reform, as it bids fair to do.

MAKING HUSBANDS DUTIFUL.

West Virginia has attempted to prevent marriage becoming a total failure, as it too often does, by legislation compelling husbands to live up to their marital vows. A law has just gone into effect in that state, which was drafted and indorsed by the Humane society, providing severe penalties for able bodied men who neglect or refuse to provide for their wives and families. The State Humane society officers are entrusted with its enforcement. Men can be sent to jail for longer or shorter periods, at the discretion of the court, for idleness and for failure to provide. There is already a diligent effort to enforce the law and the officers of the State Humane society expect to force shiftless and lazy men either to attend to business or to quit the state. Success to their efforts!

COMMENDABLE VIGILANCE.

The East Liverpool police and the health authorities are to be congratulated on successfully enforcing their order against a supposed smallpox-infested steamboat. It is quite probable that there was no danger of infection, and it is also probable, as the master of the boat states, that a false report had been circulated to injure his business. But vigilance is always commendable where even a suspicion of infection exists, and having the report they had, there was but one thing for the officers to do, and that was to act. They acted wisely and promptly, and deserve the thanks of the public.

"When the East Liverpool News Review feels like boasting of an excellence superior to other papers in the county it should differentiate between the classes of papers. The News Review has a solid basis for felicitation upon its excellence as a daily. As a distinctively weekly newspaper the Buckeye is without an equal in the county, a competitor in eastern Ohio or a superior in the state." These remarks we find in the Buckeye State, of Lisbon, an excellent newspaper, edited with brains and ability. The only suggestion we have to offer is that perhaps the Buckeye State has not seen our weekly, or it would not speak so confidently about having no superior.

The Presbyterians are indulging in such earnest talk that there is a danger of disturbing Philadelphia's slumbers.

The process of "tanking up" is more popular than ever in Texas since the oil fever set in.

The Shamrock II. is evidently no match for an English channel gale.

Uncle Sam will proceed to show who is boss at West Point.

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—Former Governor John Riley Tanner died suddenly at the Leland hotel in this city, from rheumatism of the heart.

Governor Tanner had been confined to his apartments since his return from Chicago, last Saturday, with rheumatism in the left side. The case was not considered at all serious. Governor Tanner held many political offices in this state, and for years was one of the leaders of the Republican party in the state.

SOUTH SIDE

FOUL PLAY FEARED

ARTHUR CUPPETT, OF NEW CUMBERLAND, MISSING.

Started for Conway, Pa., Almost a Week Ago, But Did Not Reach There.

Arthur Cuppett, of New Cumberland, former candidate for sheriff, left his family last Saturday, stating that he was going to the Conway yards, north of Rochester, Pa., to visit his mother and would return Monday evening. He did not return, and Wednesday his wife wrote to his mother and learned that Mr. Cuppett had not returned Conway. The matter was reported to the local authorities, who have failed so far to find any trace of the missing man.

Mr. Cuppett had a considerable sum of money and his friends fear foul play. He was regular in his habits and paid all outstanding bills before leaving. Mrs. Cuppett is almost distracted.

CHESTER ORDINANCES

Aim to Raise Revenue in Various Ways—Tax on Shanty Boats Proposed.

Recorder Marshall has sent a rough draft of the ordinances which the Chester councilmen desire to have present at their next meeting to Solicitor O. S. Marshall, of New Cumberland, to be put in legal form. They cover the following:

Tax on restaurants, lunch stands and hotels; licenses for cane racks, knife racks, and all similar fakers' stands; an ordinance prohibiting and providing a penalty for all gambling devices; licenses for circuses, side shows and menageries; tax on shanty boats and boat landings; also a number of other ordinances such as are necessary for the government of a town.

The chief aim of most of the ordinances drafted is to obtain a source of revenue.

WILL DECIDE TODAY.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S PHYSICIANS TO CONSULT.

Then a Decision Is to Be Made as to Time of Starting For Home.

San Francisco, May 24.—Mrs. McKinley was up Thursday and was well enough to appear at her window and wave a farewell to the president as he departed for the military review at the Presidio.

While the intention of the presidential party was to start for the east about 10 o'clock Saturday morning, this will not be positively decided upon until after a consultation of the attending physicians, which is to be held at noon today.

The president made a brief address at the Presidio, which was loudly applauded.

After the review, the president, escorted by General Shafter and Colonel Girard, went through every ward of the military hospital. He had a smile for every patient and spoke words of cheer to many.

After a good night's rest Mrs. McKinley awoke refreshed and smilingly told the president that the program scheduled for Thursday need not be curtailed on her account. Accordingly President McKinley went to the home of Irving M. Scott, where he had breakfast. Immediately afterwards he attended a reception given by the heads of the general departments in this city. He then went to the Presidio, where he reviewed the troops, including the regiments which have recently returned from the Philippines. After lunch he met a number of newspaper men and heartily thanked them for the sympathetic manner in which they had treated the illness of Mrs. McKinley.

About 2 o'clock the president attended a reception by the Union League club, and an hour later was welcomed by the Ohio society at the Palace hotel. He was then given a reception by the assembled Pioneers of California, veterans of the Mexican war, and Native Sons of the Golden West.

Last night the president met the Grand Army veterans in Pioneer hall. In his honor a new provisional post has been formed, known as McKinley Post No. 1901. Members of both the Grand Army and of the Loyal Legion were present, as President McKinley belongs to the two orders.

ERIE WAS STRONG

Trading in Stock Market Thursday Mostly by Professionals, Room Traders Predominating.

New York, May 24.—Thursday's stock market offered very little that is worthy of any comment. Still further evidence was given of the abandonment of the trading to professional operators, most of them of the class known as room traders.

Wednesday's strength in the Erie stocks was maintained Thursday morning and helped the market to some advances, most conspicuous in about the same stocks as those which showed strength Wednesday. The movement in Erie continued the subject of much interest and the conjecture as to its origin ranged from a belief that it was pure speculation, with manipulation by a pool, to the opinion that a contest for control might be involved. The theory that the Gould Southwestern group of railroads were striving for a trunk line outlet to the Atlantic found its advocates. This possibility was in itself disturbing to speculative sentiment as threatening to upset the status quo in the trunk line territory. Declines of 2 1/2 in New York Central and 2 1/2 in Pennsylvania gave some point to this apprehension. For this reason the strength of Erie had begun to lose its sympathetic influence before that stock itself yielded to the later weakness of the market. The absorption on the advance was very heavy, blocks of 5,000 to 8,000 shares appearing on the tape. Union Pacific was the first stock to show notable weakness, possibly due to the fact that the governing committee of the Stock Exchange at Wednesday's meeting refrained from action on the application of the company to list $100,000,000 of convertible bonds. London was an active seller during the day. The lesson of the Northern Pacific corner was shown in the timidity of arbitrage brokers about going short of stock, even on arbitrage account, where a purchase in London had first been made against the sale here. Northern Pacific sold up to 205 during the day. The demand was believed to be due to the requirements of London shorts. The London Stock Exchange was reported to have decided Thursday not to reconsider its decision suspending the rule for buying in of Northern Pacific stock until June 10. But the movement of the stock here indicated that the London shorts had received some kind of warning to prepare for a settlement. Anything connected with the Northern Pacific corner has not lost its power to disquiet, and it was a disturbing influence Thursday. The final selling movement in the stock market carried prices down from 2 to over 4 points. The weakness was severest in the leading grangers, Pacifics, trunk lines and some of the important specialties. The United States Steel stocks shared in the general weakness.

The bond market became irregular with the development of weakness in stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,635,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

CAUSE OF HUMAN ILLS

Discussed by Dr. W. M. Calhoun. An Interesting Popular Lecture.

Dr. W. M. Calhoun delivered a very interesting lecture at the Second M. E. church last evening on "Practical Hygiene." His address was carefully prepared and ably delivered. He attributes nearly all human ailments to irregularities in the mode of living and the use of stimulants and narcotics. At the close of his address the doctor dwelt upon the tobacco habit which he condemned in the strongest terms.

This was the second of a series of lectures which are being given under the auspices of the Epworth league. The best evidence of the popularity of these lectures is shown in the crowded house which greeted the speaker last night.

STONE THROWING.

DANGEROUS PASTIME OF BOYS ANNOYING RESIDENTS.

Dr. Rose Hathway Came Near Being Seriously Hurt—Arrests Looked For.

Several residents of the West End who reside on Enghth stree between Lisbon street and Carpenter's run have been troubled a great deal recently by a number of boys who reside on Ridgeway avenue and amuse themselves by throwing stones on the roofs of houses and the street below. Several times different people came near being struck by the falling missiles.

A number of unsuccessful attempts were made to learn the names of the youngsters in order that the matter might be reported to the police. Recently the miscreants have grown bold, however, and their names are now known to the residents, who await the next repetition of the act before swearing out warrants for their arrest.

Dr. Rose Hathway narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday as a result of these youngsters' amusement. She was standing at the head of a driving horse which was struck by one of the stones. The frightened animal lunged forward, brushing against Miss Hathway with such force as to almost knock her off her feet. The residents have decided to make an example of the first lad caught in order to put a stop to the nuisance.

THE ATTACK ON THE POPE

In the Confession Deplored by Some Speakers on the Revision Question. Late Ex-President Harrison Told Committee It Must Be Removed.

Philadelphia, May 24.—With eloquence born of the solemn importance of the question commissioners to the Presbyterian general assembly began the debate on the revision of the confession of faith. Brilliant leaders of the church advanced their views in a calm, dispassionate manner, and the entire discussion was devoid of acrimony.

Calvary church was not large enough to accommodate the throngs who clamored for admission. Among the spectators were many clergymen of other denominations.

The great question came before the assembly with the reading of the report of the committee on revision by Dr. Charles A. Dickie, chairman. This was followed by the minority report, read by Rev. Dr. William McKibben, of Cincinnati.

Several Motions Made.

A rule of the assembly gives chairmen the right to speak on their reports after they have been received, but before Rev. Dr. Dickie could secure recognition Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls moved the adoption of the first recommendation in both reports. Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat made a substitute motion to adopt the majority report, and an amendment was offered substituting the minority. Rev. Dr. George D. Baker presented as another amendment a resolution to the effect that as the vote of the presbyteries indicated a lack of unanimity the entire subject be dismissed. Rev. Dr. Dickie secured the floor on this amendment and made a stirring address supporting the old confession. Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson and Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls aroused the unbounded enthusiasm of the audience by their brilliant presentations of the revision factions' reasons for desiring a change.

Rev. Dr. George T. Purves spoke against revision, as did Rev. Dr. George D. Baker. Dr. McKibben favored a modified change. There are 250 commissioners committed to dismissal, but they have expressed themselves as open to conviction.

During the course of his speech, following the Baker amendment, Rev. Dr. Dickie said in part:

"Three-fourths of the whole number of presbyteries answering the questions replied, 'We want some change.' Why can we not have the answers of all?"

He declared the dismissal of the whole question would not answer when so many presbyteries demanded some change. Dr. Dickie thought the assembly should be willing to do that which is safe and consistent, which does not reproach the past and which casts no dishonor on the church.

God's love of the whole world, the influence of the holy spirit and the value of missions should form the foundation of the confession.

"They tell us," he continued, "that the committee's report is indefinite. I think it exceedingly clear. The report says the change must be such as not to impair the confession of faith. That is plain. It is claimed that a change might interfere with somebody's liberty. We want the liberty of feeling, and knowing that the confession of faith means that God saves his children and that God's love embraces the whole world."

Baker Opposed Revision.

Rev. Dr. George D. Baker, of this city, in the course of his speech against revision, said, in part, that the assertion has been made that the confession of faith was not up to date and that the love of God is not sufficiently magnified. Those persons, he said, evidently do not know the confession. Rev. Dr. Baker said he believed there existed in the assembly a sentiment which cried "hands off." Some commissioners, the speaker declared, lean towards the adoption of an explanatory statement as an easy way out of the difficulty.

"An explanatory statement," said Rev. Dr. Baker, "is an interpretation of the confession of faith by the majority. It must be subscribed to by ministers making their ordination vows and will thus be deprived of their religious liberty. Is our church losing its hold on the world? Is it a weakening church? Is it not rather stronger than ever before? Let us beware how we sell our birthright for a mess of pottage."

Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, presented a careful analysis of the confession showing why certain statements should be eliminated and asserting that some truths not contained therein should be added. No one would deny he said that the confession of faith was a human document and therefore subject to error.

"I have no attack to make on the creed," said Dr. Johnson, in opening his address. "I wish calmly and dispassionately to investigate it, what it contains and what it does not contain. The authors of the creed are not infallible. They wrote some things in it which we do not believe to be true and failed to write some things which we hold to be true."

Attack on Pope Not Approved.

"They wrote of the pope 'that anti-Christ, man of sin and son of perdition.' We repudiate that belief, and why should it be allowed to remain? We have had the creed 250 years and will be following the footsteps of the Westminster divines if we make a new one. The way is open to us to do as our Westminster fathers did. What liberty had they that we do not possess?"

Dr. Johnson then quoted a number of revisions which the creed has undergone since its adoption, and said that as the prevailing sentiment of the church favored some change it was the duty of the assembly to take cognizance of their wish.

As to the law in the matter, Rev. Dr. Johnson said that when a specific change is desired by two-thirds of the presbyteries the assembly must send down an overture. It has no choice. The assembly also has the power to act when not requested to do so.

"Can we then afford to dismiss this question when 154 presbyteries ask for a change?" asked Dr. Johnson. It was the suggestion of General Harrison that no matter what was taken out of the convention the clause referring to the pope must be eliminated, as there was no reason why it should remain.

The clause referring to the refusal to take an oath, Rev. Dr. Johnson also thought should be stricken out and that some mention of missions should be made. Regarding predestination, Rev. Dr. Johnson said:

"I do not arraign the doctrine of Divine election, but to shut mercy up to the elect is to take away its glory. We want nothing but fidelity to the truth. Truth is two-sided. Our confession holds up one side elegantly. Let us get all the truth on our side."

Rev. Dr. George T. Purves, of New York, spoke against revision. He said in part:

"I am not an extremist on this question. I am not one who believes the confession of faith is a perfect document. I recognize the fact that it is open to improvement. This assembly is a deliberative and constitutive body, not bound by the presbytery returns. The returns in this case present a hopeless future for any specific plan. As for the poor pope of Rome being anti-Christ, I admit that is not the proper epithet to apply to him, but bringing up such subjects is picking flies off the great pillar of the confession."

"Do you imagine for a moment you are going to stop the aspersions of the world against Calvinism? Not for one moment. When the Westminster divines tried to remove these aspersions they built up a more highly articulated statement of the doctrine, which is just the opposite of what our brethren want us to do."

Nicolls Made Strong Speech.

A forceful address favoring revision which noticeably impressed the commissioners was delivered by Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls, of St. Louis, who declared that creed is the report of Scriptural knowledge up to date. "Our fathers who wrote it recognized this fact," asserted Dr. Nicolls. Continuing he said:

"Throughout our church there has been an expression of dissatisfaction with the statements of our written confession, and this dissatisfaction is growing. We do know something which our fathers did not know, or, at least, which they did not write. Is it reasonable that the presbyteries should ask you to consider if you can not state the truth in such a way that it may not be understood? Oh, peace, what strife has been engendered in your name!"

"Our presbyteries are seeking aid, and if relief is granted permanent peace will result. You may term these questions which are agitating the church little things, but little things sometimes cause much irritation. How easy it is to raise the cry that the faith is assailed. I do not believe in beating ecclesiastical drums. It is my opinion that when a document don't express your convictions the easiest way is to change it."

"By the third chapter of the confession of faith we do not mean that God's grace is not to be preached to all men. Salvation is open to all men in the province of Christ."

"One-third of the human race die in infancy and the sorrowing mother comes to the church. Has the church, as the representative of the gentle Jesus, nothing to say to that sorrowing mother? That is what we ask in this connection."

"Is the unknown will of God to be the basis of our mission work? We want to know that."

Speaking of the clause referring to the pope, Dr. Nicolls said there were many examples in the Roman church which might well be emulated. In that church are men of the highest intellectual attainments, self-sacrificing and holy women who have nursed our wounded on the battle field and missionaries who have given their lives for their faith.

"Shall not we, then," asked Rev. Dr. Nicolls, "exercise that charity which we ask when we are misunderstood?"

SUNDAY SCHOOL SESSION

A Feature of Baptist Anniversaries. Under Auspices of Publication Society.

Springfield, Mass., May 24.—The attendance on the May anniversaries of the Baptist church continued very large. There was a Sunday school session under the direction of the Publication society. At a preliminary meeting a paper was read by the Rev. Dr. J. B. Calvert, of New York. This was a report of the committee on publishing department and an address.

The Sunday school session began with an address by Rev. Dr. C. R. Blackall, of Philadelphia, on "The Sunday School Problem of the Twentieth Century." This was followed by a paper on "A National Sunday School Institute," by James Edmunds, of Oregon. Mr. Edmunds spoke of the need of proper training of teachers in the Sunday school, of the graduating of classes and systematic study. The paper was received with great interest and at its close the convention voted that the Publication society print the paper in pamphlet form for distribution among the churches.

Brief reports were made by the committees on finance, enrollment and resolutions.

May Vote Against Platt Amendment.

Havana, May 24.—El Mundo claimed that the Cuban constitutional convention stands 14 to 14 on the Platt amendment, President Capote being opposed to it and controlling the deciding vote. The conservatives were hesitating to push matters and are inclined to wait until after the municipal elections, when party feelings will have subsided. No action is expected on either report.

Calvary church was not large enough to accommodate the throngs who clamored for admission. Among the spectators were many clergymen of other denominations.

The great question came before the assembly with the reading of the report of the committee on revision by Dr. Charles A. Dickie, chairman. This was followed by the minority report, read by Rev. Dr. William McKibben, of Cincinnati.

Several Motions Made.

A rule of the assembly gives chairmen the right to speak on their reports after they have been received, but before Rev. Dr. Dickie could secure recognition Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls moved the adoption of the first recommendation in both reports. Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat made a substitute motion to adopt the majority report, and an amendment was offered substituting the minority. Rev. Dr. George D. Baker presented as another amendment a resolution to the effect that as the vote of the presbyteries indicated a lack of unanimity the entire subject be dismissed. Rev. Dr. Dickie secured the floor on this amendment and made a stirring address supporting the old confession. Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson and Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls aroused the unbounded enthusiasm of the audience by their brilliant presentations of the revision factions' reasons for desiring a change.

Rev. Dr. George T. Purves spoke against revision, as did Rev. Dr. George D. Baker. Dr. McKibben favored a modified change. There are 250 commissioners committed to dismissal, but they have expressed themselves as open to conviction.

During the course of his speech, following the Baker amendment, Rev. Dr. Dickie said in part:

"Three-fourths of the whole number of presbyteries answering the questions replied, 'We want some change.' Why can we not have the answers of all?"

He declared the dismissal of the whole question would not answer when so many presbyteries demanded some change. Dr. Dickie thought the assembly should be willing to do that which is safe and consistent, which does not reproach the past, and which casts no dishonor on the church.

God's love of the whole world, the influence of the holy spirit and the value of missions should form the foundation of the confession.

"They tell us," he continued, "that the committee's report is indefinite. I think it exceedingly clear. The report says the change must be such as not to impair the confession of faith. That is plain. It is claimed that a change might interfere with somebody's liberty. We want the liberty of feeling, and knowing that the confession of faith means that God saves his children and that God's love embraces the whole world."

Baker Opposed Revision.

Rev. Dr. George D. Baker, of this city, in the course of his speech against revision, said, in part, that the assertion has been made that the confession of faith was not up to date and that the love of God is not sufficiently magnified. Those persons, he said, evidently do not know the confession. Rev. Dr. Baker said he believed there existed in the assembly a sentiment which cried "hands off." Some commissioners, the speaker declared, lean towards the adoption of an explanatory statement as an easy way out of the difficulty.

"An explanatory statement," said Rev. Dr. Baker, "is an interpretation of the confession of faith by the majority. It must be subscribed to by ministers making their ordination vows and will thus be deprived of their religious liberty. Is our church losing its hold on the world? Is it a weakening church? Is it not rather stronger than ever before? Let us beware how we sell our birthright for a mess of pottage."

Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, presented a careful analysis of the confession showing why certain statements should be eliminated and asserting that some truths not contained therein should be added. No one would deny he said that the confession of faith was a human document and therefore subject to error.

"I have no attack to make on the creed," said Dr. Johnson, in opening his address. "I wish calmly and dispassionately to investigate it, what it contains and what it does not contain. The authors of the creed are not infallible. They wrote some things in it which we do not believe to be true and failed to write some things which we hold to be true."

Attack on Pope Not Approved.

"They wrote of the pope 'that anti-Christ, man of sin and son of perdition.' We repudiate that belief, and why should it be allowed to remain? We have had the creed 250 years and will be following the footsteps of the Westminster divines if we make a new one. The way is open to us to do as our Westminster fathers did. What liberty had they that we do not possess?"

Dr. Johnson then quoted a number of revisions which the creed has undergone since its adoption, and said that as the prevailing sentiment of the church favored some change it was the duty of the assembly to take cognizance of their wish.

As to the law in the matter, Rev. Dr. Johnson said that when a specific change is desired by two-thirds of the presbyteries the assembly must send down an overture. It has no choice. The assembly also has the power to act when not requested to do so.

"Can we then afford to dismiss this question when 154 presbyteries ask for a change?" asked Dr. Johnson. It was the suggestion of General Harrison that no matter what was taken out of the convention the clause referring to the pope must be eliminated, as there was no reason why it should remain.

The clause referring to the refusal to take an oath, Rev. Dr. Johnson also thought should be stricken out and that some mention of missions should be made. Regarding predestination, Rev. Dr. Johnson said:

"I do not arraign the doctrine of Divine election, but to shut mercy up to the elect is to take away its glory. We want nothing but fidelity to the truth. Truth is two-sided. Our confession holds up one side elegantly. Let us get all the truth on our side."

Rev. Dr. George T. Purves, of New York, spoke against revision. He said in part:

"I am not an extremist on this question. I am not one who believes the confession of faith is a perfect document. I recognize the fact that it is open to improvement. This assembly is a deliberative and constitutive body, not bound by the presbytery returns. The returns in this case present a hopeless future for any specific plan. As for the poor pope of Rome being anti-Christ, I admit that is not the proper epithet to apply to him, but bringing up such subjects is picking flies off the great pillar of the confession."

"Do you imagine for a moment you are going to stop the aspersions of the world against Calvinism? Not for one moment. When the Westminster divines tried to remove these aspersions they built up a more highly articulated statement of the doctrine, which is just the opposite of what our brethren want us to do."

Nicolls Made Strong Speech.

A forceful address favoring revision which noticeably impressed the commissioners was delivered by Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls, of St. Louis, who declared that creed is the report of Scriptural knowledge up to date. "Our fathers who wrote it recognized this fact," asserted Dr. Nicolls. Continuing he said:

"Throughout our church there has been an expression of dissatisfaction with the statements of our written confession, and this dissatisfaction is growing. We do know something which our fathers did not know, or at least, which they did not write. Is it reasonable that the presbyteries should ask you to consider if you can not state the truth in such a way that it may not be understood? Oh, peace, what strife has been engendered in your name!"

"Our presbyteries are seeking aid, and if relief is granted permanent peace will result. You may term these questions which are agitating the church little things, but little things sometimes cause much irritation. How easy it is to raise the cry that the faith is assailed. I do not believe in beating ecclesiastical drums. It is my opinion that when a document don't express your convictions the easiest way is to change it."

"By the third chapter of the confession of faith we do not mean that God's grace is not to be preached to all men. Salvation is open to all men in the province of Christ."

"One-third of the human race die in infancy and the sorrowing mother comes to the church. Has the church, as the representative of the gentle Jesus, nothing to say to that sorrowing mother? That is what we ask in this connection."

"Is the unknown will of God to be the basis of our mission work? We want to know that."

Speaking of the clause referring to the pope, Dr. Nicolls said there were many examples in the Roman church which might well be emulated. In that church are men of the highest intellectual attainments, self-sacrificing and holy women who have nursed our wounded on the battle field and missionaries who have given their lives for their faith.

"Shall not we, then," asked Rev. Dr. Nicolls, "exercise that charity which we ask when we are misunderstood?"

SUNDAY SCHOOL SESSION

A feature of Baptist Anniversaries. Under Auspices of Publication Society.

Springfield, Mass., May 24.—The attendance on the May anniversaries of the Baptist church continued very large. There was a Sunday school session under the direction of the Publication society. At a preliminary meeting a paper was read by the Rev. Dr. J. B. Calvert, of New York. This was a report of the committee on publishing department and an address.

The Sunday school session began with an address by Rev. Dr. C. R. Blackall, of Philadelphia, on "The Sunday School Problem of the Twentieth Century." This was followed by a paper on "A National Sunday School Institute," by James Edmunds, of Oregon. Mr. Edmunds spoke of the need of proper training of teachers in the Sunday school, of the graduating of classes and systematic study. The paper was received with great interest and at its close the convention voted that the Publication society print the paper in pamphlet form for distribution among the churches.

Brief reports were made by the committees on finance, enrollment and resolutions.

May Vote Against Platt Amendment.

Havana, May 24.—El Mundo claimed that the Cuban constitutional convention stands 14 to 14 on the Platt amendment, President Capote being opposed to it and controlling the deciding vote. The conservatives were hesitating to push matters and are inclined to wait until after the municipal elections, when party feelings will have subsided. No action is expected on either report.

POLICEMAN PERTURBED

Anxious to Get New Uniforms Before Ice Cream Trousers Are Out of Season.

The members of the local police force are much perturbed because of the delayed arrival of their new summer uniforms. The factory from which the clothes were purchased agreed to have them here by May 11, but for some unknown reason they have failed to do as promised.

No explanation has been offered for the delay and this is what is aggravating the coppers. They are as much inclined to be stylishly garbed as anyone else, and don't like to wait until the summer season is over to get a chance to sport their new togs.

POLICEMAN PERTURBED

Anxious to Get New Uniforms Before Ice Cream Trousers Are Out of Season.

The members of the local police force are much perturbed because of the delayed arrival of their new summer uniforms. The factory from which the clothes were purchased agreed to have them here by May 11, but for some unknown reason they have failed to do as promised.

No explanation has been offered for the delay and this is what is aggravating the coppers. They are as much inclined to be stylishly garbed as anyone else, and don't like to wait until the summer season is over to get a chance to sport their new togs.

TOLD IN EAST LIVERPOOL

It's the Evidence of East Liverpool People, Published in East Liverpool Papers, That Has Made Such a Reputation for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

Standing clear and distinct, marking the difference, the superior merit, the adaptability to present day ailments in the volume of local testimony for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. It's so different to the ordinary remedies referring to cures made at distant points which it is hard to certify. There is a reason for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills commanding home evidence wherever they are known—it is their wonderful influence in bringing up the standard of Nerve Force. Mrs. C. L. Yager, of 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's medicines are all good. I got them at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, as I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person, as I feel well and hearty again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

Buy It Now.

Do not wait until you or some of your family are sick nigh unto death, and then send for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, but buy it now and be prepared for an emergency. It is the one remedy that can always be depended upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. It is equally valuable for children and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. EXCITEMENT ON A STEAMER FROM RUMOR OF SMALLPOX

When the steamer Greenwood, plying between Charleston and Pittsburg, arrived here last evening bound for the latter city on the her regular trip, it was met at the wharfbank by Health Officers Ogden and Burgess, together with Chief Thompson and Policemen Davidson and Aufderheide. The officers' purpose was to prevent the steamer from discharging any of its passengers or cargo at this point, and they did so.

Word was received by the health authorities late in the afternoon from Wheeling that a smallpox patient was on board the Greenwood, and the officers were warned to take proper precautions on the arrival of the boat. Messrs. Ogden and Burgess made their way to the city hall early in the evening and made arrangements with the officers to accompany them to the wharfbank in case trouble should result. It was suspected by the health officials that an attempt would be made to defy their authority, but in this they were mistaken.

It was about 8:30 o'clock when the Greenwood's whistle was heard signaling for a landing. The officers were on hand to meet the steamer, and when it pulled in alongside of the wharfbank, the officers, who had taken position on the roof, signaled to Captain Green, who was standing on the upper deck, to hold his passengers back and notify the mate to refrain from unloading freight.

Captain Green obeyed the orders without the least protest. He then came down to the lower deck, where he was met by the officers, and an explanation of the situation followed. Dr. Ogden apprised the captain of the instructions he had received from Wheeling and explained that he was compelled to use every precaution against exposing the city to an epidemic. Captain Green strenuously denied all knowledge of there being a sick person on his boat since leaving Charleston, and to further convince the health officer of the mistake, the clerk was sent for. He corroborated the captain's statement and insisted on being allowed to unload the passengers and cargo for this point.

While Dr. Ogden was conversing with the Greenwood's officers, Mr. Burgess again went to the roof of the wharfbank, where he held a conference with a number of the passengers on the upper deck. From one of them he learned that a negro roustabout had taken ill on the boat soon after leaving Charleston, and that he had been put off at St. Mary's. When asked by the health officer whether or not the negro had smallpox the passenger refused to say positively, but incidentally intimated that the patient had something worse than measles. Other passengers informed the officers of the negro's sickness and reiterated the statement that he had been put off at St. Mary's.

Mr. Burgess reported his discovery to Dr. Ogden and a consultation was held, in which Wharfmaster Pilgrim took part. It was decided to take no risks and Captain Green was instructed to proceed up the river. He asked to be allowed to put off a horse and buggy, which had been shipped to a party in this city, and also desired permission to put off 25 barrels of salt consigned to a local merchant. This was refused, the captain being told in a courteous way that his requests could not be complied with. Then he asked Dr. Ogden if he could land his above the state line. The doctor told him he could, but added that if the parties who were put off the boat attempted to come into the city they would be arrested and placed under quarantine.

Finally the captain concluded that expectation was useless. Then he took occasion to compliment personally the health authorities, the marshal and policemen on their gentlemanly conduct. He stated that at Steubenville his boat had been met at the landing by the police force and a crowd of citizens with drawn revolvers who acted like a horde of savages. The passengers were given a great scare and he was forced to pull out into the river and proceed upward.

At Wellsville, according to the captain's story, the steamer's reception was the same as at Steubenville. He stated that policemen and citizens met the boat and that pistols were flourished on all sides. When the deckhands attempted to unload a quantity of lumber on the shore they were frightened back onto the boat. The captain was not so easily baffled, however. He unbuttoned his coat, and holding it open boldly walked down the plank and defied the crowd to shoot. He began to unload the lumber, but as soon as he would throw a board to the shore it was thrown back by the indignant citizens. A policeman went in search of Health Officer Warren and on arrival at the wharf he gave the captain permission to unload the lumber.

There were no demonstrations in East Liverpool. The city authorities went about their work in a quiet and courteous way and not only the officers of the steamer, but the passengers as well evidenced their appreciation of the treatment they received in the warmest of praise. Captain Green expressed the belief that the story concerning the alleged case of smallpox on his boat had been started by jealous rivals for the purpose of injuring him. Just before leaving he was informed that before he would be allowed to land on his downward trip he would have to produce a clean bill of health from the Pittsburg authorities. The captain agreed to have his boat thoroughly fumigated.

A great crowd gathered along the river bank when the Greenwood arrived and hundreds gathered around the wharfbank. The doors of the wharfbank were kept closed, however, and the crowds were not allowed to come in contact with the passengers on the steamer.

The health officials are deserving of the greatest credit in so successfully accomplishing their purpose. It was noted about the city early in the evening that the Greenwood would not be allowed to land and it was generally predicted that trouble, and perhaps bloodshed would result. The policemen who accompanied the health officers had no occasion to assert their authority and at no time was there the least indication of strife.

WHEELING DETECTIVE

LOOKING FOR A COUPLE HE CLAIMED HAD ESCAPED.

Officer Davidson Found the Man Who Tried to Locate the Detective And Whip Him.

A Wheeling detective called at the city hall last evening and asked the co-operation of the officers in locating a traveling man who, he claimed, was in this city. The detective said the drummer had eloped from Wheeling with a young lady of that city.

Officer Davidson located the man at the C. & P. depot just before the arrival of the 8 o'clock train. The drummer became incensed when the policeman told him of the charges made by the detective. He said he was married to the Wheeling woman and went in search of the "spotter," vowing he would thrash him. The detective made himself scarce.

HINDLE-M'MILLEN

A Popular Young Couple Wedded at St. Stephen's Church Last Evening.

The fifth wedding ceremony in the new Episcopal church took place last evening at 6:30 p. m., when Mr. Elmer D. McMillen and Miss Clara Hendle were united in the bonds of holy matrimony by the rector, Rev. Edwin Weary. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Priestly Hendle. The bridegroom's brother acted as best man. It was a grand ceremony. The newly married couple left immediately after the wedding for a trip west.

The groom is a popular member of the fire department and the bride until recently was a telephone operator.

METZGER'S TRIAL BEFORE A JURY

The Evidence Submitted a Repetition of That Given at First Hearing.

AMBLER LONG ON THE STAND

Questioned for Three Hours And Cross-Questioned for Two More—The Defendant Tried Upon Four of the Original Charges Against Him.

Lisbon, May 24.—(Special.)—When a jury had finally been obtained yesterday for the trial of the case of the city of Salem vs. City Solicitor L. P. Metzger, it stood as follows: L. D. Endley, Bert B. Burns, Laurin Cope, J. P. Frew, John C. Baxter, A. W. H. Martin, E. E. Hess, Lisbon; Frank Greenheisen, North Georgetown; D. G. Thompson, St. Clair township; John Conlin, Washington township; Hugh McCready, East Palestine, and John Bock, East Liverpool.

A motion was argued, asking that the defendant be tried simply on the one charge of which he was recently convicted, dropping the remaining six charges of which Judge Boone declared him not guilty. Judge Boone ruled upon the motion before any evidence was offered, overruling the motion and holding that in granting a new trial, every charge made against the defendant should be investigated. By consent of all parties interested, however, Mr. Metzger will be tried simply on the first, second, fifth and sixth charges.

The first charge includes the payment by the city of $45 for the first trip to New York; the second charge, the $51 claimed for the second New York trip; the fifth, charging him with having connived and colluded with certain parties in endeavoring to dispose of the Salem railroad against the interests of the city of Salem, and the sixth, charging him with having sought to dispose of the Salem railroad at judicial sale while assuming to act in his official capacity of city solicitor. This is the clause charging him with arranging with parties whose interests were adverse to the city and who agreed to pay him $1,000 out of the proceeds of the sale.

The evidence of James M. Sears, James L. McNeelan, C. E. Cavanaugh, C. E. Sweney and B. S. Ambler was taken during the afternoon and differed in no particular from that given by them at the former hearing.

Ambler was not cross-examined last evening. Court adjourned until morning.

At 8:30 this morning the cross-examination of Ambler was proceeded with, conducted by Hon. R. W. Taylor, who subjected the witness to a most searching questioning. Nothing new was brought out. Ambler was on the stand over two hours this morning and almost three hours yesterday.

William Dunn was next called to testify concerning conversations between Ambler and Metzger in Ambler's office February 28.

The evidence for the prosecution closed just before noon. Metzger then took the stand to testify in his own behalf. He told the same story as at the former trial.

One point scored by the defense was the introduction as evidence of the letter written to Metzger by Ambler, while the former was acting as solicitor of the city of Salem in the absence of A. W. Taylor, then solicitor. Mr. Taylor was then in the south for his health. Ambler, recognizing Metzger's performance of additional services in the interests of the city, wrote to him, enclosing a check for $50, in appreciation thereof, which, as the evidence showed, was promptly returned, with the statement that he could not conscientiously accept.

All of the evidence of the defense will be in by 4 o'clock and arguments will begin.

Two new Sunday trains will also be placed on the road. They will be No. 363 and No. 364. No. 363 will go west at 7:45 a. m. and No. 364 goes east at 8:30 p. m. Both will run between Pittsburg and Bellaire.

NOTED PREACHER COMING JUNE 2

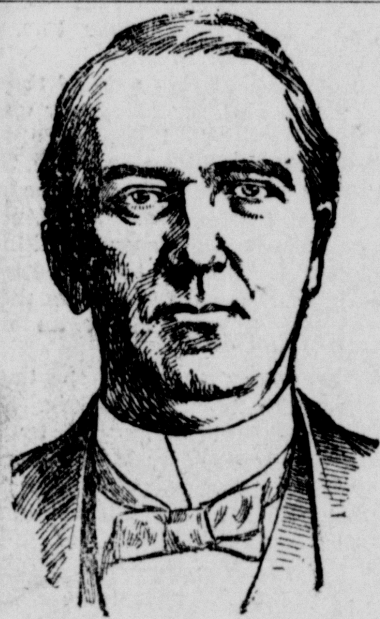

Rev. Dr. Edward Thompson to Conduct Meetings and Mass Meetings.

THEME SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

The Lawyer-Preacher Will Spend a Week in East Liverpool, Chester And Wellsville—Several Big Union Meetings Planned.

Rev. Edward Thompson, LL. D., who is known as the lawyer-preacher, will spend a week in East Liverpool and Wellsville in the interest of Sabbath observance. He will open his series of meetings here on Sunday, June 2.

On that date Dr. Thompson will preach in the morning in the First Presbyterian church of this city. In the afternoon he will conduct a mass meeting, the various churches uniting, at the Second M. E. church in the East End. In the evening of the same day he will preach at the First M. E. church. On Monday evening, June 3, Dr. Thompson will preach in the First U. P. church in this city and on Tuesday evening he will speak in Chester, the two churches there uniting. On Wednesday evening prayer meetings will be held in the various churches of East Liverpool at 7:30 o'clock, and at 8:30 a mass meeting of all the churches will be held at the First M. P. church. From here Dr. Thompson will go to Wellsville, continuing his labors up to and including Sunday evening, June 9.

Dr. Thompson comes here as the representative of the American Sunday league and has the endorsement of prominent religious workers throughout the country. A Fort Worth, Texas, paper says of his discourse in that city:

"He contended that man to reach his best condition in body, mind, social and spiritual life, needed the Sabbath. That under a Sabbath well kept, men live longer, are more effective in labor, more intelligent, more inventive, more commercial, more moral, and more generally successful. In his illustrations he contrasted London with Paris, England with Spain and argued that our country, to be truly and permanently strong, allow on Sunday only work of real necessity and the most quiet recreations and the day should be one of rest, thought worship and song.

"At night he spoke in the First Presbyterian. His subject was 'The Sunday of Our Fathers.' He contended that the men who made this country intended to establish Christianity and intended that the worshipful type of Sunday should be a permanent institution of the land.

"All who heard the distinguished speaker seem to agree with the Nashville American that 'he is one of the most finished orators in the south.'"

RUNAWAY GIRL CAUGHT

VIRGIL HALSTEAD PLEADED GUILTY TO PETIT LARCENY.

She Was Arrested at Wellsville By Constable Powell And Is Now in the Lisbon Jail.

One week ago Virgil Halstead, a 14-year-old girl, whose parents live in the West End, left her home. She was arrested last evening in the lower end of Wellsville by Constable Powell. It was thought the girl had left the city with Robinson's circus, as she had made known her intention to do so, and was in company with several of the showmen here.

She was located at Wellsville by G. W. Allison, an uncle of the girl, who claimed she had stolen a watch and other jewelry, and the constable, who already held a warrant for her, was apprised of her whereabouts. The officer found the girl hidden in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Daniels, in company with Jennie Hughes, another girl whose home is in this city. Mrs. Daniels is a sister of the Hughes girl.

The constable was told by the Halstead girl she would go with him without trouble, and asked permission to change her clothes. With the Hughes girl she went to an upstairs room and locked herself in. The officer was about to force the door when it was opened. She pleaded guilty to petit larceny before Justice McLane this morning and was taken to Lisbon by the constable.

Her father is at present helplessly ill in the last stage of consumption. On different occasions his daughter has run away, and as a result the parents agreed to have her sent to the reform school.

The girl was arraigned at Lisbon this afternoon and application will be made to send her to the girls' school at Delaware as an incorrigible.

Sensational Suit for $20,000 Against Judge T. C. Roche, of Coshocton.

Probate Judge Thomas C. Roche, of Coshocton, who has been sued for $20,000 damages for alienating the affections of the wife of George W. Helter, formerly a buggy agent of Coshocton, now of Chicago, was formerly superintendent of schools in Columbiana county. Helter married Miss Laura M. Stocker, of Port Washington, in 1894. She is now at the home of her mother.

Judge Roche is a prominent lawyer and Democratic politician. He claims he is the victim of a conspiracy and that the plaintiff and his wife offered to settle for $500. Helter's attorneys say they have Helter's wife's confession.

A GREAT SUCCESS

Was the Dance Given By the Belmont Club at Rock Springs Park.

The Belmont club held its first dance of the season at Rock Springs park last night. The decorations at the pavilion were superb, the colors of the club being much in evidence and floral decorations abundant. A large and select gathering was in attendance.

Some members of the club are complaining of the early quitting of the orchestra. The invitations stated that there would be dancing from 8 to 12, but at 11:20 the home waltz was played and by 11:30 the floor was cleared and the orchestra departed for home. Yet the evening passed delightfully for the club members and their numerous guests.

Finance Committee Made the Rating at a Meeting Last Night.

INCOME WILL BE $46,000

Which Is About $5,000 in Excess of That of Last Year From All Sources.

NOTE FROM AUDITOR ADAMS

The Committee Are Not Pleased With the Manner in Which the Water Works Department Make Improvements, And Will Meet With Them.

Finance committee of council met at city hall last evening and fixed the tax levy under the new appraisalment.

President Nice and Members Cripps, Horwell, Bullock and Thomas were present, together with Clerk Hanley. It required a great deal of figuring to arrive at a definite conclusion, but after going over the ground in a careful and business-like manner, the members concluded the city could not do business upon an amount less than a levy of 8½ mills would bring.

The most reasonable and by far the fairest made of figuring, and the plan which had been discussed by several members of the committee was not followed out. It had been suggested that the committee should take the old valuation of $3,000,000 as a basis and then decrease the levy in proportion to the increase in the value of the property in the city. For instance, if a piece of real estate was valued at $2,000 under the old appraisalment and the new fixed it at $3,000, the levy should be lowered one-third.

It is not known whether the question was presented in that light—evidently not, as the levy was fixed at a much higher figure than this would bring.

The information is given out that the committee deemed it wise to keep the levy down to 8½ mills on account of the dissatisfaction throughout the city and county. It was thought that by another year things would have adjusted themselves so that the levy can be increased to a point that will fully cover the running expenses of the municipality. The councilmen say the levy as fixed, although about $5,000 in excess of the income of last year, will be inadequate to cover the legitimate expenses. Last year the fund of every department was overdrawn, and this fact is the reason assigned for desiring to increase the income.

The council, it is claimed, will now be compelled to use every precaution in keeping down the expenses of the city, and consequently very little work in the way of improvements will be done.

A communication was received from County Auditor Adams, cautioning the committee against fixing a levy which would produce an income greater than that provided by the statutes. He had received notice from property-holders in all parts of the county informing him that restraining orders would be issued in cases where the law was violated in this regard.

Another matter touched upon at the meeting was the manner in which the water works department were conducting their affairs. The committee had agreed to pay the interest upon the indebtedness already contracted by them in order that they be enabled to devote their entire income to the work of building the new reservoir. They still propose to do this, but are not pleased at the manner in which the work is being done. The law requires that all contracts involving an expenditure of $500 or more shall be let by bids. It seems the department has been conducting the improvements on their own hook by day's work. The finance committee do not approve of this and will meet with the board in order to lay their objections before it.

The following communication speaks for itself. Others on the same or similar topics will be gladly published, if unobjectionable. The pottery workers of East Liverpool are invited to make the News Review the medium through which they may discuss topics of interest to the craft:

"Editor News Review—I have noticed with pleasure that the editorial management have added a pottery department to your already valuable paper, and I think this is one of the best moves you could make, as it will serve to keep the craft posted on all matters connected with the various organizations, as well as any shop talk which the tradesmen see fit to discuss."

"I am a packer, and for this reason seldom have an opportunity to hear much respecting the workings of the locals. I think the packers should be organized by themselves, and have taken the liberty of writing this note in order to mention a few reasons why it was not a good move to affiliate with the warehousemen."

"Local union No. 48 is in a flourishing condition—amplified able to conduct her own affairs and stand on her own bottom—without any assistance from the packers. I have been trying to figure out since learning of this move what excuse or reason the officials have for suggesting that the packers go in with the warehousemen any more than with any other trade. There is no more similarity in the trades or the duties performed by those engaged therein than between the kilnmen and the saggermakers."

"The great trouble has always been that the members of my trade are dependent upon the contractors and are unable to have a voice in the fixing of their wages. This state of affairs is our own fault to a great extent, and is the main reason why we should be organized separately. The same conditions prevail with the mold-makers, and the size of their local is evidence of the effect it has upon that craft. They are plucky enough, however, to stay with their organization, and their faithfulness will be rewarded some day by doing away with the contracting system."

"Now, my plan is to form an organization of our own, and go to work on the revolution of the systems now in vogue. True, we have been organized before, and have been compelled to surrender our charter owing to lack of interest on the part of the members, but this cannot be taken as an evidence that another effort would be unsuccessful. I was a member of the old local, and know a number of others who were, and it is my opinion we could rather profit by past experience in holding the organization together.

STRAW SLINGER."

The shortage of warehouse girls is causing considerable inconvenience to the East End plants. At one of them two of the bosses were compelled to work all day in the warehouse in order to keep the kilnmen going. They state that they find it impossible to secure enough girls in any of the departments, and this is in one of the best equipped plants in the town.

William Conkle, a kiln hand at the C. C. Thompson Pottery, while at work yesterday fell in a glaze tub with a load of ware, but was uninjured save for the bath. He was compelled to spend the dinner hour washing the glaze from his clothes and drying them at the kilns.

A jardinere which had been carelessly placed fell from a bin yesterday at the Wellsville China company's works, and hit one of the women employed there. It inflicted an ugly wound, which Dr. Fraser soon fixed up.

James Stoakes, a well known Steubenville potter, was in town a few days this week. The gentleman reports prospects good in the pottery trade.

Nick Flesch, who has been finishing handles at the West End, resigned yesterday and has accepted a similar position at Burford Bros. He will go to work Monday.

The decorating department at the Edwin M. Knowles pottery has affairs in shape that the kiln department will be in operation soon. William Zook will have charge of the kilns.

Burford Bros. today started the work of erecting new benches in the pressing shop and will place six additional pressers at work soon.

Ed Morgan, a batterout at Burford Bros., will quit his job Saturday, and Monday he will take charge of a jigger at the same plant.

Charles Wade and William Black, employed at Burford Bros., are matched to run a foot race this afternoon for $5 a side.

Anna Kaiser, who is employed in the biscuit warehouse at the National, is off today on account of illness.

Thomas Nolan has taken a position as kiln placer at the Murphy pottery, and he will go to work Monday.

The employees of the biscuit warehouse of Burford Bros. loafed this afternoon, there being no ware.

The new roof being placed on the E. M. Knowles supply plant will be completed this week.

Henry Knoblock left last night for an eastern trip in the interest of the Dresden pottery.

Miss Nora Burdick, of Beaver, Pa., has taken charge of the glaze warehouse at the National plant.

Moody's Vote of Thanks.

Possibly the most novel response ever made to a request to return a vote of thanks to a chairman was that made by Mr. Moody during his first visit to England.

He had attended a meeting at which the Earl of Shaftesbury was chairman. The duty of proposing a vote of thanks was assigned to him and the announcement made:

"Our American cousin, the Rev. Mr. Moody of Chicago, will now move a vote of thanks to the noble earl who has presided on this occasion."

The whole thing was quite out of Mr. Moody's line. English formalities might or might not have come gracefully from his lips had he attempted them, but he did not. With an utter disregard of conventionality he burst upon the audience with the bold announcement:

"The speaker has made two mistakes. To begin with, I'm not the Rev. Mr. Moody at all. I'm plain Dwight L. Moody, a Sunday school worker. And then I'm not your American cousin. By the grace of God I'm your brother, interested with you in our Father's work for his children."

"And now about this vote of thanks to the 'noble earl for being our chairman this evening.' I don't see why we should thank him any more than he should thank us. When at one time they offered to thank our Mr. Lincoln for presiding over a meeting in Illinois, he stopped it. He said he'd tried to do his duty, and they'd tried to do theirs. He thought it was about an even thing all round."

That opening fairly took the breath away from Mr. Moody's hearers. Such a talk could not be gauged by any known standard. Mr. Moody carried his English audiences with him from that beginning to his latest labors.—Youth's Companion.

THE ZIONITE INDICTED

Dowie and Others Held for a Woman's Death.

LEADER COULD NOT BE FOUND

Babe of Pierson Died Near New York.
He a Dowie Follower—Serving Term Owing to Neglect of Another Child, Who Died.

Chicago, May 24.—The coroner's jury, which for about two days had listened to the evidence in the case of Mrs. Emma Lucy Judd, wife of one of the officials of John Alexander Dowie's Zion, last night returned a verdict holding Dowie, H. W. Judd, husband of the woman; Mrs. Sprecher and Mrs. Bratsch to await the action of the grand jury. Two of the accused were arrested, but the rest were not found, Dowie being one of the missing.

New York, May 24.—Earl Gladstone Pierson, the 2-months old son of J. Luther Pierson, of Mount Vernon, died at the Pierson's died recently. A daughter of Pierson's died recently of pneumonia and the father is now in White Plains jail serving out a fine of $500 imposed for his neglect to employ a physician in the case. For about 10 days the second child had been without medical attendance, it is said.

HAS LIPTON A CHANCE?

Yachtsman Thought Not, Before Accident—Sir Thomas Wants Races In October.

London, May 24.—An editorial in The Yachtsman, written before the accidents to the Shamrocks, said:

"The trials of the two Shamrocks have shattered our faith in the new boat. We cannot see what prospect of success Lipton has."

Southampton, May 24.—At a conference of his constructors and advisers, held last evening on board the Erie, Sir Thomas Lipton told the gentlemen that he was determined to go ahead with the Shamrock II, and left it to them to decide how this could best be done.

He had a long discussion with Mr. Watson, the designer of the Shamrock II; Mr. Ratsey, the sail maker; Mr. Wand, manager of the Denny's, the builders of the yacht; Captain Sycamore, her skipper, and Messrs. Hillyard and Ure, amateur yachtsmen, who have been sailing on board the Shamrock II, and it was agreed to cable the New York Yacht club asking that the date of the contest be postponed until the first week in October, in order to allow time for necessary repairs. This extension will give the Denny's and Mr. Ratsey time to do their parts of the work.

JOHNSON TOOK ACTION.

Again Had Injunction Issued Against Tax Assessment Board.

Cleveland, May 24.—Mayor Johnson again invoked the power of the court to compel the 19 county auditors sitting as a railway tax assessment board to call in railway officials to testify as to the value of their lines. The board met to appraise the property of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road. Before it could take action, however, the sheriff appeared with a writ of mandamus issued by Judge Strimple. Thereupon the auditors took a recess and it is understood the officers of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road will be asked to appear before that board.

A NEW ROAD REFORMER.

For years the bicyclists have been earnest advocates of road reform and have done a good deal to promote it. From present indications they will soon have a powerful ally in the increasing army of automobilists. A man and his wife have succeeded in making an automobile trip from New York to Chicago in 10 days' time, in spite of the hindrances of bad roads and unfavorable weather conditions. It would not be surprising if long-distance summer tours by the owners of horseless carriages should become popular in the future, as these vehicles are gradually perfected and their management is better understood. Automobiles are useless on any but good roads. At present they are too costly for common use as pleasure vehicles. But, unless history fails to repeat itself, they will be improved, cheapened in price and their use rapidly extended wherever conditions are favorable.

With increased numbers of automobiles there will naturally be a demand for roads on which to run them. In many cities they are now fast displacing vehicles drawn by horses. Horseless cabs, express wagons, delivery wagons and even horseless drays are growing in favor, and factories report the demand for them growing at an astonishing rate. Good streets and good roads must follow their general introduction. The automobile isn't pretty and it doesn't always smell well, but these faults will be overlooked by the public if it proves a genuine advance agent of road reform, as it bids fair to do.

MAKING HUSBANDS DUTIFUL.

West Virginia has attempted to prevent marriage becoming a total failure, as it too often does, by legislation compelling husbands to live up to their marital vows. A law has just gone into effect in that state, which was drafted and indorsed by the Humane society, providing severe penalties for able bodied men who neglect or refuse to provide for their wives and families. The State Humane society officers are entrusted with its enforcement. Men can be sent to jail for longer or shorter periods, at the discretion of the court, for idleness and for failure to provide. There is already a diligent effort to enforce the law and the officers of the State Humane society expect to force shiftless and lazy men either to attend to business or to quit the state. Success to their efforts!

COMMENDABLE VIGILANCE.

The East Liverpool police and the health authorities are to be congratulated on successfully enforcing their order against a supposed smallpox-infested steamboat. It is quite probable that there was no danger of infection, and it is also probable, as the master of the boat states, that a false report had been circulated to injure his business. But vigilance is always commendable where even a suspicion of infection exists, and having the report they had, there was but one thing for the officers to do, and that was to act. They acted wisely and promptly, and deserve the thanks of the public.

"When the East Liverpool News Review feels like boasting of an excellence superior to other papers in the county it should differentiate between the classes of papers. The News Review has a solid basis for felicitation upon its excellence as a daily. As a distinctively weekly newspaper the Buckeye is without an equal in the county, a competitor in eastern Ohio or a superior in the state." These remarks we find in the Buckeye State, of Lisbon, an excellent newspaper, edited with brains and ability. The only suggestion we have to offer is that perhaps the Buckeye State has not seen our weekly, or it would not speak so confidently about having no superior.

The Presbyterians are indulging in such earnest talk that there is a danger of disturbing Philadelphia's slumbers.

The process of "tanking up" is more popular than ever in Texas since the oil fever set in.

EX-COV. TANNER DEAD

Had Been Ill With Rheumatism. Case Was Not Considered Serious.

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—Former Governor John Riley Tanner died suddenly at the Leland hotel in this city, from rheumatism of the heart. Governor Tanner had been confined to his apartments since his return from Chicago, last Saturday, with rheumatism in the left side. The case was not considered at all serious. Thursday afternoon the governor became much worse. Dr. Dixon, his family physician, was hurriedly called. He reached the bedside about 2:30 and found the governor beyond medical aid. Governor Tanner held many political offices in this state, and for years was one of the leaders of the Republican party in the state.

WELLSVILLE

CHASED BY A COW

Unpleasant Experience of a Woman Who Was Waiting for a Boat.

A woman sat at the landing yesterday for a long time, waiting for the Greenwood to come up. When the Lorena landed two men got off with a cow. The animal was rather vicious and when it saw the woman it broke away and ran for her.

For a while she fled through the street, but the animal followed. She was compelled to run down over the bank. It is said she is there still. If she is waiting for the Greenwood to take her, probably she will have a long wait.

FOUL PLAY FEARED

ARTHUR CUPPETT, OF NEW CUMBERLAND, MISSING.

Started for Conway, Pa., Almost a Week Ago, But Did Not Reach There.

Arthur Cuppett, of New Cumberland, former candidate for sheriff, left his family last Saturday, stating that he was going to the Conway yards, north of Rochester, Pa., to visit his mother and would return Monday his mother and on Wednesday evening. He did not return, and Wednesday his wife wrote to his mother and learned that Mr. Cuppett had not reached Conway. The matter was reported to the local authorities, who have failed so far to find any trace of the missing man.

Mr. Cuppett had a considerable sum of money and his friends fear foul play. He was regular in his habits and paid all outstanding bills before leaving. Mrs. Cuppett is almost distracted.

WILL DECIDE TODAY.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S PHYSICIANS TO CONSULT.

Then a Decision Is to Be Made as to Time of Starting For Home.

San Francisco, May 24.—Mrs. McKinley was up Thursday and was well enough to appear at her window and wave a farewell to the president as he departed for the military review at the Presidio.

While the intention of the presidential party was to start for the east about 10 o'clock Saturday morning, this will not be positively decided upon until after a consultation of the attending physicians, which is to be held at noon today.

The president made a brief address at the Presidio, which was loudly applauded.

After the review, the president, escorted by General Shafter and Colonel Girard, went through every ward of the military hospital. He had a smile for every patient and spoke words of cheer to many.

After a good night's rest Mrs. McKinley awoke refreshed and smilingly told the president that the program scheduled for Thursday need not be curtailed on her account. Accordingly President McKinley went to the home of Irving M. Scott, where he had breakfast. Immediately afterwards he attended a reception given by the heads of the general departments in this city. He then went to the Presidio, where he reviewed the troops, including the regiments which have recently returned from the Philippines. After lunch he met a number of newspaper men and heartily thanked them for the sympathetic manner in which they had treated the illness of Mrs. McKinley.

About 2 o'clock the president attended a reception by the Union League club, and an hour later was welcomed by the Ohio society at the Palace hotel. He was then given a reception by the assembled Pioneers of California, veterans of the Mexican war, and Native Sons of the Golden West.

Last night the president met the Grand Army veterans in Pioneer hall. In his honor a new provisional post has been formed, known as McKinley Post No. 1901. Members of both the Grand Army and of the Loyal Legion were present, as President McKinley belongs to the two orders.

ERIE WAS STRONG

Trading in Stock Market Thursday Mostly by Professionals, Room Traders Predominating.

New York, May 24.—Thursday's stock market offered very little that is worthy of any comment. Still further evidence was given of the abandonment of the trading to professional operators, most of them of the class known as room traders.

Wednesday's strength in the Erie stocks was maintained Thursday morning and helped the market to some advances, most conspicuous in about the same stocks as those which showed strength Wednesday. The movement in Erie continued the subject of much interest and the conjecture as to its origin ranged from a belief that it was pure speculation, with manipulation by a pool, to the opinion that a contest for control might be involved. The theory that the Gould Southwestern group of railroads were striving for a trunk line outlet to the Atlantic found its advocates. This possibility was in itself disturbing to speculative sentiment as threatening to upset the status quo in the trunk line territory. Declines of 2 1/2 in New York Central and 2 1/2 in Pennsylvania gave some point to this apprehension. For this reason the strength of Erie had begun to lose its sympathetic influence before that stock itself yielded to the later weakness of the market. The absorption on the advance was very heavy, blocks of 5,000 to 8,000 shares appearing on the tape. Union Pacific was the first stock to show notable weakness, possibly due to the fact that the governing committee of the Stock Exchange at Wednesday's meeting refrained from action on the application of the company to list $100,000,000 of convertible bonds.

London was an active seller during the day. The lesson of the Northern Pacific corner was shown in the timidity of arbitrage brokers about going short of stock, even on arbitrage account, where a purchase in London had first been made against the sale here. Northern Pacific sold up to 205 during the day. The demand was believed to be due to the requirements of London shorts. The London Stock Exchange was reported to have decided Thursday not to reconsider its decision suspending the rule for buying in of Northern Pacific stock until June 10. But the movement of the stock here indicated that the London shorts had received some kind of warning to prepare for a settlement. Anything connected with the Northern Pacific corner has not lost its power to disquiet, and it was a disturbing influence Thursday. The final selling movement in the stock market carried prices down from 2 to over 4 points. The weakness was severest in the leading grangers, Pacifics, trunk lines and some of the important specialties. The United States Steel stocks shared in the general weakness.

The bond market became irregular with the development of weakness in stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,635,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Wage Committee May Report Today, Milwaukee, May 24.—The board of trustees of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers submitted its report to the convention. The report was a review of the financial and other conditions of the order and will not be made public. It is expected the wage committee will be reported to the convention today and an adjournment was taken until that time.

Dr. W. M. Calhoun delivered a very interesting lecture at the Second M. E. church last evening on "Practical Hygiene." His address was carefully prepared and ably delivered. At the close of his address the doctor dwelt upon the tobacco habit which he condemned in the strongest terms.

This was the second of a series of lectures which are being given under the auspices of the Epworth league. The best evidence of the popularity of these lectures is shown in the crowded house which greeted the speaker last night.

STONE THROWING.

DANGEROUS PASTIME OF BOYS ANNOYING RESIDENTS.

Dr. Rose Hathway Came Near Being Seriously Hurt—Arrests Looked For.

Several residents of the West End who reside on Enghth stree between Lisbon street and Carpenter's run have been troubled a great deal recently by a number of boys who reside on Ridgeway avenue and amuse themselves by throwing stones on the roofs of houses and the street below. Several times different people came near being struck by the falling missiles.

A number of unsuccessful attempts were made to learn the names of the youngsters in order that the matter might be reported to the police. Recently the miscreants have grown bold, however, and their names are now known to the residents, who await the next repetition of the act before swearing out warrants for their arrest.

Dr. Rose Hathway narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday as a result of these youngsters' amusement. She was standing at the head of a driving horse which was struck by one of the stones. The frightened animal lunged forward, brushing against Miss Hathway with such force as to almost knock her off her feet. The residents have decided to make an example of the first lad caught in order to put a stop to the nuisance.

GOD'S LOVE IS BROAD

It Includes All Is Presbyterian Assembly Sentiment.

THE ATTACK ON THE POPE

In the Confession Deplored by Some Speakers on the Revision Question. Late Ex-President Harrison Told Committee It Must Be Removed.

Philadelphia, May 24.—With eloquence born of the solemn importance of the question commissioners to the Presbyterian general assembly began the debate on the revision of the confession of faith. Brilliant leaders of the church advanced their views in a calm, dispassionate manner, and the entire discussion was devoid of acrimony.

Calvary church was not large enough to accommodate the throngs who clamored for admission. Among the spectators were many clergymen of other denominations.

The great question came before the assembly with the reading of the report of the committee on revision by Dr. Charles A. Dickie, chairman. This was followed by the minority report, read by Rev. Dr. William McKibben, of Cincinnati.

Several Motions Made.

A rule of the assembly gives chairman the right to speak on their reports after they have been received, but before Rev. Dr. Dickie could secure recognition Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls moved the adoption of the first recommendation in both reports. Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat made a substitute motion to adopt the majority report, and an amendment was offered substituting the minority. Rev. Dr. George D. Baker presented as another amendment a resolution to the effect that as the vote of the presbyteries indicated a lack of unanimity the entire subject be dismissed. Rev. Dr. Dickie secured the floor on this amendment and made a stirring address supporting the old confession. Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson and Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls aroused the unbounded enthusiasm of the audience by their brilliant presentations of the revision factions' reasons for desiring a change.

Rev. Dr. George T. Purves spoke against revision, as did Rev. Dr. George D. Baker. Dr. McKibben favored a modified change. There are 250 commissioners committed to dismissal, but they have expressed themselves as open to conviction.

During the course of his speech, following the Baker amendment, Rev. Dr. Dickie said in part:

"Three-fourths of the whole number of presbyteries answering the questions replied, 'We want some change.' Why can we not have the answers of all?"

He declared the dismissal of the whole question would not answer when so many presbyteries demanded some change. Dr. Dickie thought the assembly should be willing to do that which is safe and consistent, which does not reproach the past and which casts no dishonor on the church.

God's love of the whole world, the influence of the holy spirit and the value of missions should form the foundation of the confession.

"They tell us," he continued, "that the committee's report is indefinite. I think it exceedingly clear. The report says the change must be such as not to impair the confession of faith. That is plain. It is claimed that a change might interfere with somebody's liberty. We want the liberty of feeling, and knowing that the confession of faith means that God saves his children and that God's love embraces the whole world."

Baker Opposed Revision.

Rev. Dr. George D. Baker, of this city, in the course of his speech against revision, said, in part, that the assertion has been made that the confession of faith was not up to date and that the love of God is not sufficiently magnified. Those persons, he said, evidently do not know the confession. Rev. Dr. Baker said he believed there existed in the assembly a sentiment which cried "hands off." Some commissioners, the speaker declared, lean towards the adoption of an explanatory statement as an easy way out of the difficulty.

"An explanatory statement," said Rev. Dr. Baker, "is an interpretation of the confession of faith by the majority. It must be subscribed to by ministers making their ordination vows and will thus be deprived of their religious liberty. Is our church losing its hold on the world? Is it a weakling church? Is it not rather stronger than ever before? Let us beware how we sell our birthright for a mess of pottage."

Rev. Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, presented a careful analysis of the confession showing why certain statements should be eliminated and assenting that some truths not contained therein should be added. No one would deny he said that the confession of faith was a human document and therefore subject to error.

"I have no attack to make on the creed," said Dr. Johnson, in opening his address. "I wish calmly and dispassionately to investigate it, what it contains and what it does not contain. The authors of the creed are not infallible. They wrote some things in it which we do not believe to be true and failed to write some things which we hold to be true."

Attack on Pope Not Approved.

"They wrote of the pope 'that anti-Christ, man of sin and son of perdition.' We repudiate that belief, and why should it be allowed to remain? We have had the creed 250 years and will be following the footsteps of the Westminster divines if we make a new one. The way is open to us to do as our Westminster fathers did. What liberty had they that we do not possess?"

Dr. Johnson then quoted a number of revisions which the creed has undergone since its adoption, and said that as the prevailing sentiment of the church favored some change it was the duty of the assembly to take cognizance of their wish.

As to the law in the matter, Rev. Dr. Johnson said that when a specific change is desired by two-thirds of the presbyteries the assembly must send down an overture. It has no choice. The assembly also has the power to act when not requested to do so.

"Can we then afford to dismiss this question when 154 presbyteries ask for a change?" asked Dr. Johnson. It was the suggestion of General Harrison that no matter what was taken out of the convention the clause referring to the pope must be eliminated, as there was no reason why it should remain.

The clause referring to the refusal to take an oath, Rev. Dr. Johnson also thought should be stricken out and that some mention of missions should be made. Regarding predestination, Rev. Dr. Johnson said:

"I do not arraign the doctrine of Divine election, but to shut mercy up to the elect is to take away its glory. We want nothing but fidelity to the truth. Truth is two-sided. Our confession holds up one side elegantly. Let us get all the truth on our side."

Rev. Dr. George T. Purves, of New York, spoke against revision. He said in part:

"I am not an extremist on this question. I am not one who believes the confession of faith is a perfect document. I recognize the fact that it is open to improvement. This assembly is a deliberative and constitutive body, not bound by the presbytery returns. The returns in this case present a hopeless future for any specific plan. As for the poor pope of Rome being anti-Christ, I admit that is not the proper epithet to apply to him, but bringing up such subjects is picking flies off the great pillar of the confession."

"Do you imagine for a moment you are going to stop the aspersions of the world against Calvinism? Not for one moment. When the Westminster divines tried to remove these aspersions they built up a more highly articulated statement of the doctrine, which is just the opposite of what our brethren want us to do."

Nicolls Made Strong Speech.

A forceful address favoring revision which noticeably impressed the commissioners was delivered by Rev. Dr. Samuel J. Nicolls, of St. Louis, who declared that creed is the report of Scriptural knowledge up to date. "Our fathers who wrote it recognized this fact," asserted Dr. Nicolls. Continuing he said:

"Throughout our church there has been an expression of dissatisfaction with the statements of our written confession, and this dissatisfaction is growing. We do know something which our fathers did not know, or, at least, which they did not write. Is it reasonable that the presbyteries should ask you to consider if you can not state the truth in such a way that it may not be understood? Oh, peace, what strife has been engendered in your name!"

"Our presbyteries are seeking aid, and if relief is granted permanent peace will result. You may term these questions which are agitating the church little things, but little things sometimes cause much irritation. How easy it is to raise the cry that the faith is assailed. I do not believe in beating ecclesiastical drums. It is my opinion that when a document don't express your convictions the easiest way is to change it."

"By the third chapter of the confession of faith we do not mean that God's grace is not to be preached to all men. Salvation is open to all men in the province of Christ."

"One-third of the human race die in infancy and the sorrowing mother comes to the church. Has the church, as the representative of the gentle Jesus, nothing to say to that sorrowing mother? That is what we ask in this connection."

"Is the unknown will of God to be the basis of our mission work? We want to know that."

Speaking of the clause referring to the pope, Dr. Nicolls said there were many examples in the Roman church which might well be emulated. In that church are men of the highest intellectual attainments, self-sacrificing and holy women who have nursed our wounded on the battle field and missionaries who have given their lives for their faith.

"Shall not we, then," asked Rev. Dr. Nicolls, "exercise that charity which we ask when we are misunderstood?"

SUNDAY SCHOOL SESSION

A Feature of Baptist Anniversaries. Under Auspices of Publication Society.

Springfield, Mass., May 24.—The attendance on the May anniversaries of the Baptist church continued very large. There was a Sunday school session under the direction of the Publication society. At a preliminary meeting a paper was read by the Rev. Dr. J. B. Calvert, of New York. This was a report of the committee on publishing department and an address.

The Sunday school session began with an address by Rev. Dr. C. R. Blackall, of Philadelphia, on "The Sunday School Problem of the Twentieth Century." This was followed by a paper on "A National Sunday School Institute," by James Edmunds, of Oregon. Mr. Edmunds spoke of the need of proper training of teachers in the Sunday school, of the graduating of classes and systematic study. The paper was received with great interest and at its close the convention voted that the Publication society print the paper in pamphlet form for distribution among the churches.

Brief reports were made by the committees on finance, enrollment and resolutions.

May Vote Against Platt Amendment.

Havana, May 24.—El Mundo claimed that the Cuban constitutional convention stands 14 to 14 on the Platt amendment, President Capote being opposed to it and controlling the deciding vote. The conservatives were hesitating to push matters and are inclined to wait until after the municipal elections, when party feelings will have subsided. No action is expected on either report.

Manila, May 24.—The gates of Bilibid prison, Manila, swung open last night and admitted a mule wagon bearing three former United States officers, who reluctantly alighted and began to serve sentences in expiation of crimes in connection with the commissary scandals. Sentences which were read to the convicted men will be promulgated today.

Captain Frederick J. Barrows, late depot quartermaster of the department of Southern Luzon, is sentenced to five years' imprisonment; Captain James C. ALMOST PHENOMENAL

The Growth And Improvement of This Paper—A Demand For It.

The Daily News Review, of East Liverpool, has found the demands of its advertising patrons so heavy as to require an enlargement by the addition of one column to each of the eight pages. The improvement in the paper since it passed into the control of its present management has been almost phenomenal, showing that there was an urgent demand for a clean, able and consistently Republican paper in the city.—Buckeye State.

POLICEMAN PERTURBED

Anxious to Get New Uniforms Before Ice Cream Trousers Are Out of Season.

The members of the local police force are much perturbed because of the delayed arrival of their new summer uniforms. The factory from which the clothes were purchased agreed to have them here by May 11, but for some unknown reason they have failed to do as promised.

No explanation has been offered for the delay and this is what is aggravating the coppers. They are as much inclined to be stylishly garbed as anyone else, and don't like to wait until the summer season is over to get a chance to sport their new togs.

TOLD IN EAST LIVERPOOL

It's the Evidence of East Liverpool People, Published in East Liverpool Papers, That Has Made Such a Reputation for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

Standing clear and distinct, marking the difference, the superior merit, the adaptability to present day ailments in the volume of local testimony for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. It's so different to the ordinary remedies referring to cures made at distant points which it is hard to certify. There is a reason for Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills commanding home evidence wherever they are known—it is their wonderful influence in bringing up the standard of Nerve Force. Mrs. C. L. Yager, of 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's medicines are all good. I got them at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, as I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person, as I feel well and hearty again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.
